SECTION C, THE HERALD, Wednesday, April 23, 1986 - Page 1

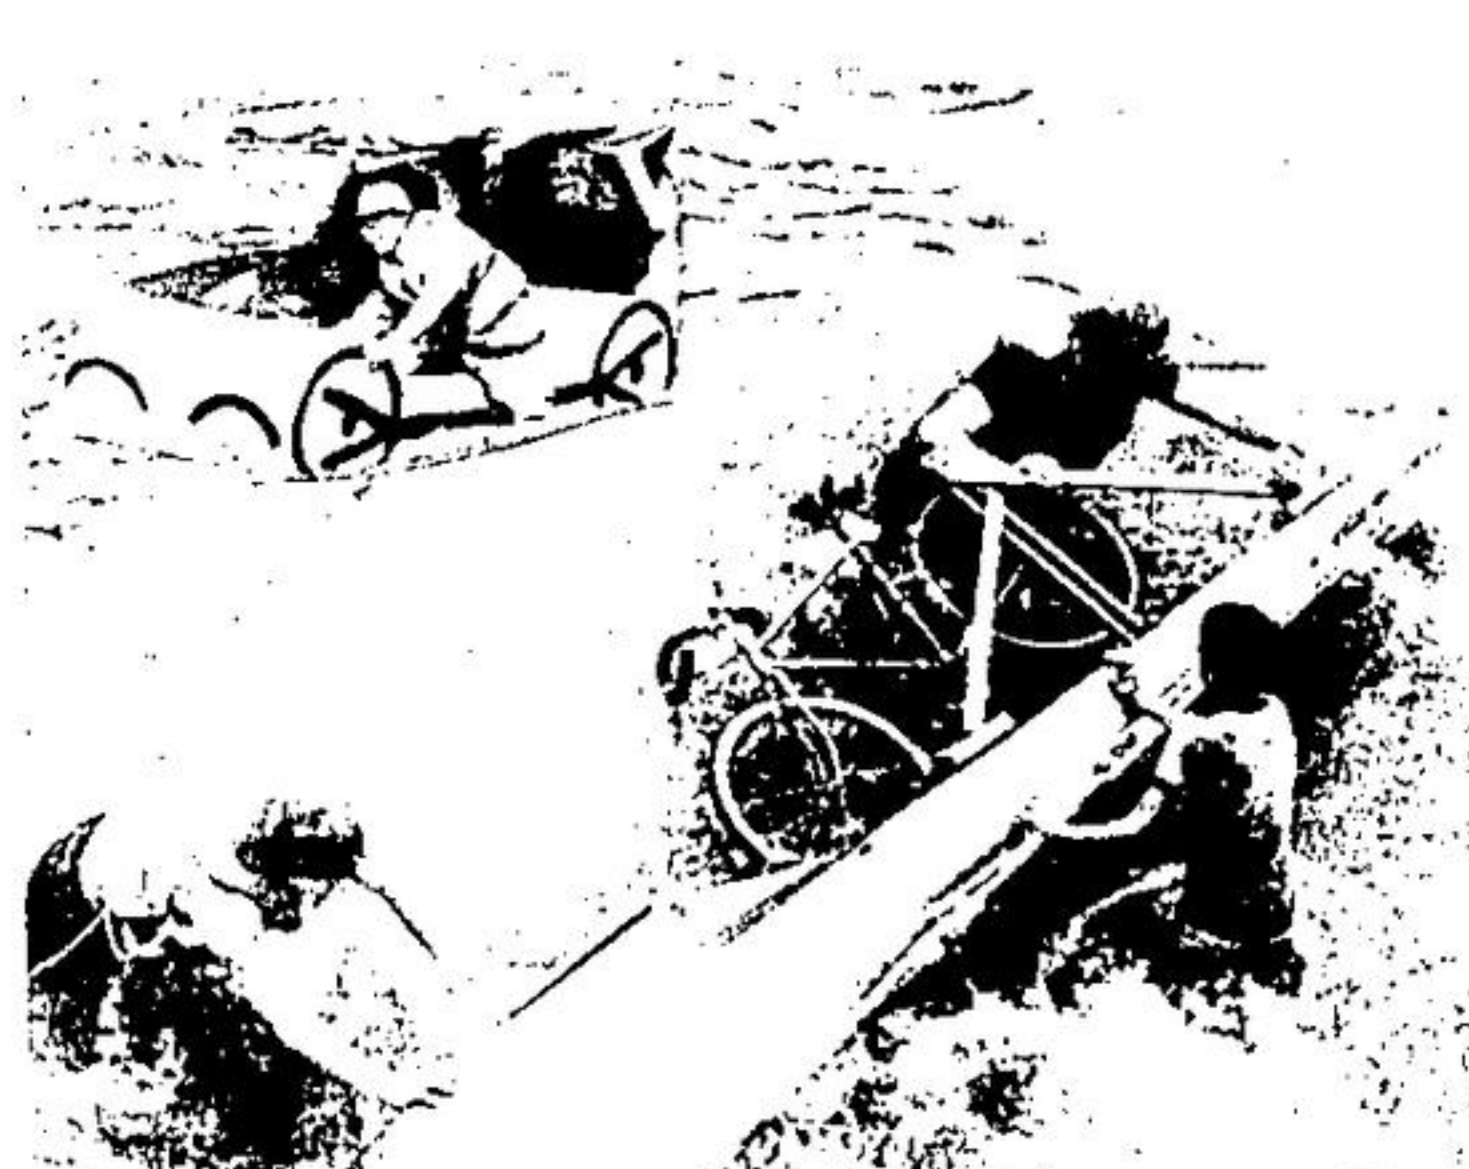

Crazy Boaters converged on Credit River

Not every boat had a gimmick. Compared to some of the boat shapes and colours this two person barrel racer looked quite normal, but could you imagine it on your lake.

This Trojan horse look-a-like was ridden by Kerry Wood. The horse, Slow Poke, lived up to its name.

These bikers struggled to right their boat, the "Boat Buster" when it capsized just before reaching the finish line.

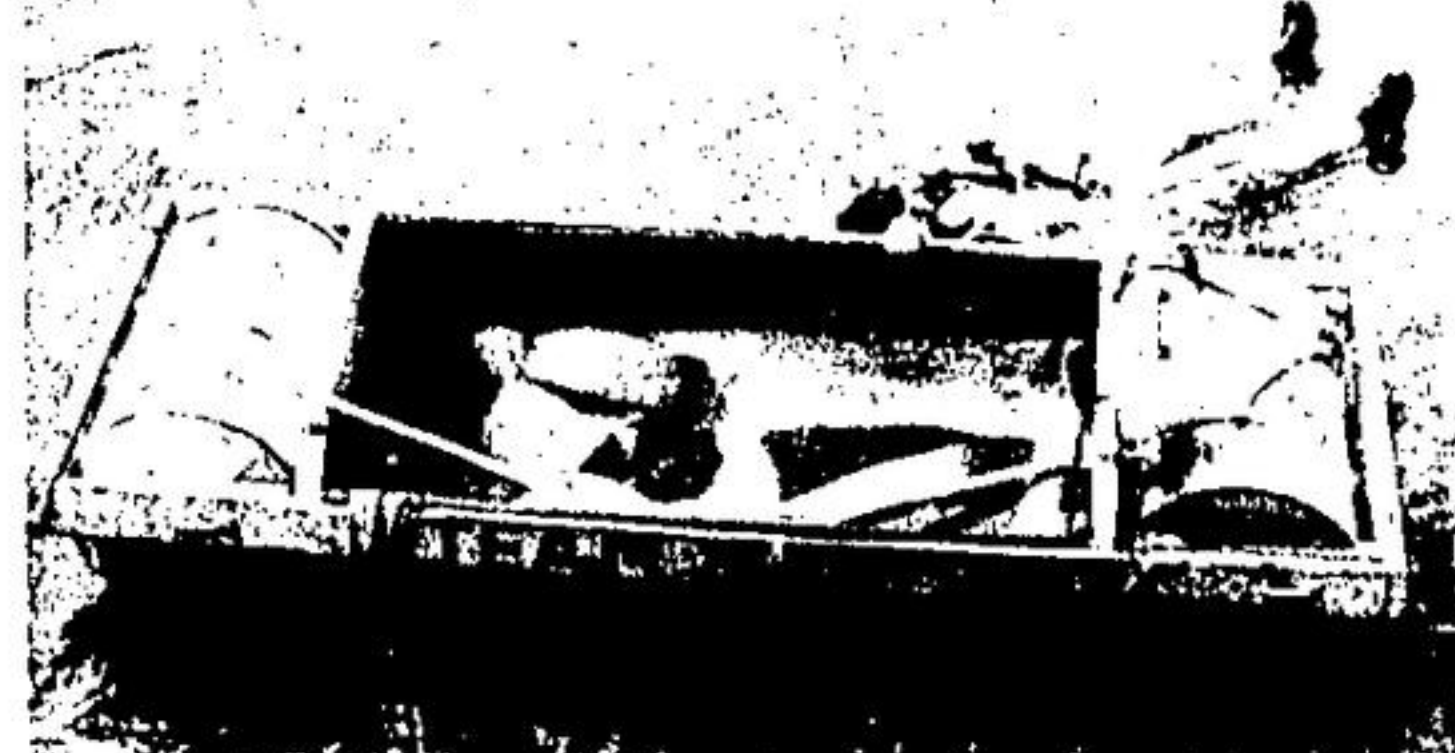

Some used their boat to deliver a message. Rob Faber (left) and Iton Kirkwood didn't have the sleekest boat but one of the most sarcastic messages.

The best dressed competitors wore penguin suits. Steve Aram was one of the flock who had a hard time keeping his feet on the ground before the race.

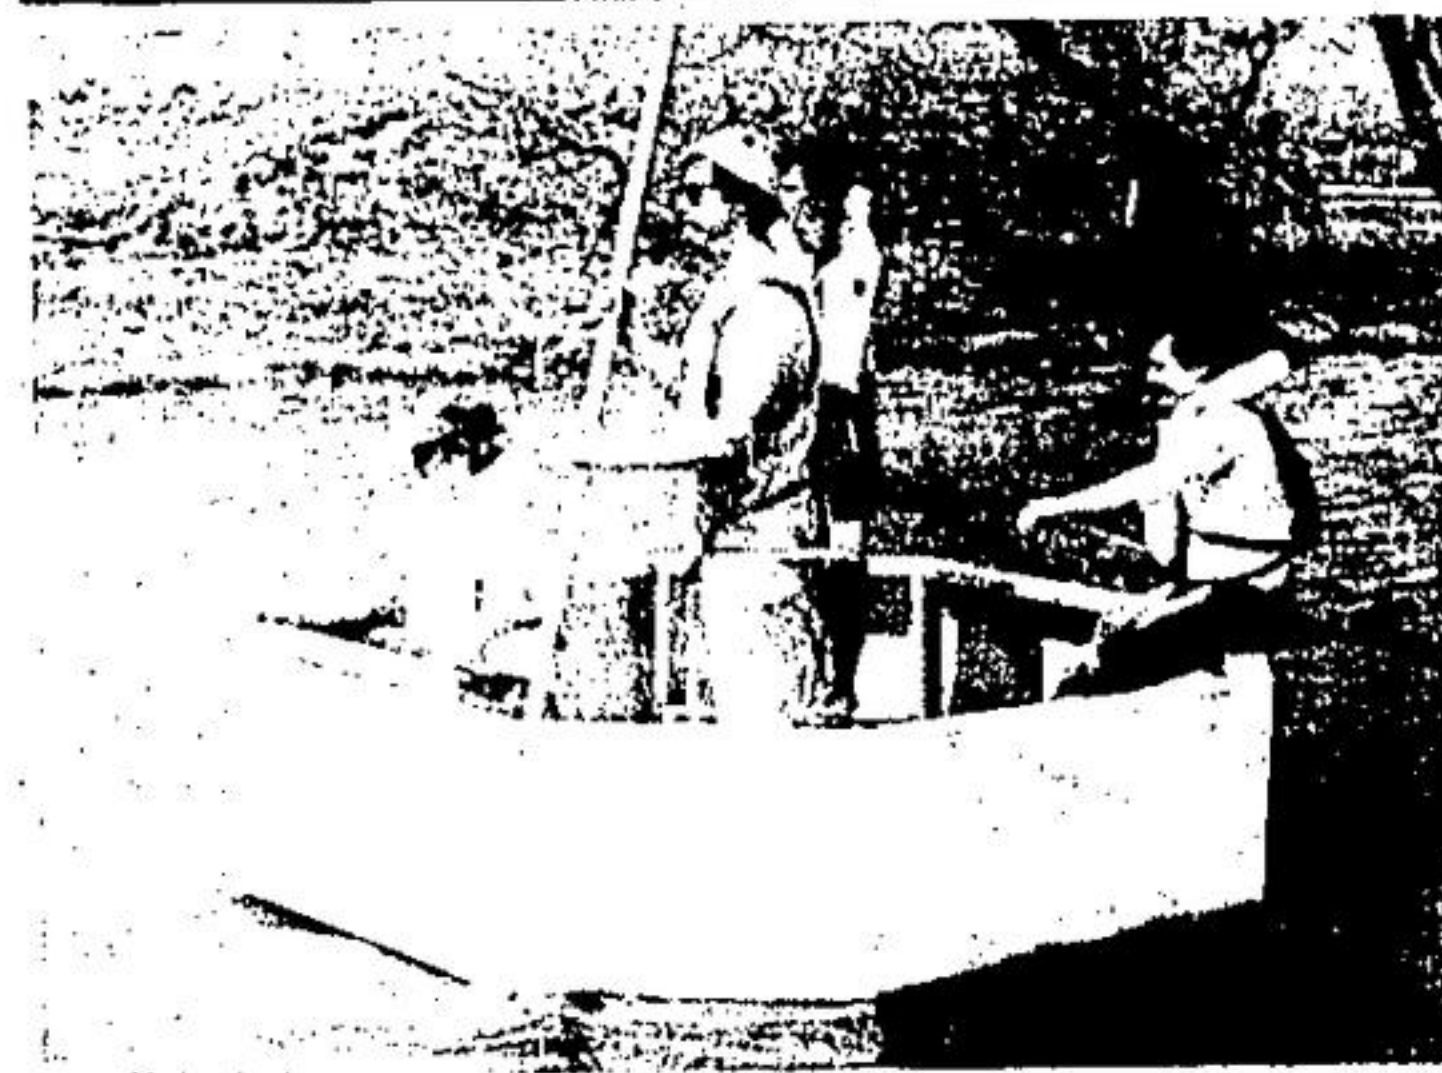

No, this isn't a group of spectators who wanted a closer look at the action, but a group of boaters, who got a close look at the fans.

Maybe "Team Speyside" wasn't quite the proper name for this boat, as this sailor drifted over the finish line alone.

Just yards away from this cumbersome craft is a boat with a gas powered water hose. The captain's last word as they drifted into chaos was "Let's stay away from those guys."
