R.F. and Electronics CHIEF ENGINEER
 A P. Eng. is required to provide management of a 5-man technical design team. Hands-on involvement with R & D, Production Engineering and Q.C. makes this job diverse and interesting. Experience with grant and assistance programs is sought as well. Blackbox manufactures radio remote controls and automation systems for mining, construction and industrial machinery. Our background with this machinery is a unique strength for system design and turnkey installation. Our new Chief Engineer should specialize in RF, Digital Design and Team Management. This position will involve some travelling, customer relations and the delivery of technical papers from time to time. It demands a versatile creative individual. Our Georgetown location will add to the successful applicant's quality of life.
