

In Acton

Fall Fair was an entertainment showcase

A real heart throb with the musical group Heart to Heart was Deanna Vicarg. She is a two-year-old from Guelph who took to the stage in Acton Friday night at the Fall Fair. Her father says she's a born dancer. The boys on the stage are Mark Sears, Adam Frixzell, Jason Dunn, Jason Johnston and Phillip Williamson. (Herald photo)

With an adult near by, this young rider pretends he's in a real airplane while taking part on the ride. This ride was one of the many young and old alike had a chance to try out. (Herald photo)

Not all those waiting for the start of the livestock competition were interested spectators. Even the cows taking part had to make the best of their spare time, as this one was busy chewing some grass prior to the event. (Herald photo)

Just like when he was about to be impeached, former U.S. president Richard Nixon took a dunking, but this time it was at the dunk tank present at the Fall Fair. Here a person wearing a Nixon mask goes in for a little dip at the Acton Lacrosse Club dunk tank. (Herald photo)

The rock group Heart to Heart performed at the Acton Fall Fair variety night where Miss Acton Fall Fair was crowned. Also included in the show was a juggler, illusionist and a trampoline artist. (Herald photo)

The variety show at the Acton arena was another success. A number of entertaining people took to the stage including Joa the Juggler, the rock group Heart to Heart and the illusionist Erik Stone. (Herald photo)
