Team edges Longhorns in final Dairy Queen GFFL champs

In a superbly close hand wringer, Dairy Queen again managed to slip by Longhorns 20-14 to capture their third MacLaren Cup. The defenses held sway throughout, but the lack of offensive fireworks, in no way detracted from the excitement of the contest. As befits a championship game, it was tension-filled and, in the fourth quarter, accented with moments of high tension.

Queen QB Mitch Leblanc began the game strongly, moving his team downfield with good play selection and accurate passing. Playoff scoring leader Ron Lunn then stepped over the Longhorns' goal line to score the game's first major. In the second quarter Queen were again on the march but faltered close to Longhorns' goal and were forced to settle for a Jeff Lockwood field goal. They led 10-0.

After regaining possession, Longhorn QB Zeke McCandless used Bill Allison on a succession of flood plays to advance the ball. Bruce Mitchell subsequently scored to cut the Dairy Queen lead to 10-7. As time wound down in the first half, Queens again threatened, but for the second time in as many possessions were stymied by a strong Longhorn defence. Jeff Lockwood was called upon again and he hit from 35 yards out to push the Queen lead to 13-7 at the half.

The Longhorn defence continued its strong play in the second half, forcing Dairy Queen to punt on the first possession. The herd took over and McCandless found his favorite receiver on this day, Bill Allison, just outside the Queen end zone. Allison stepped over for six and Jim Lindsay kicked the convert to give the cattle a 14-13 lead.

The Longhorn lead was short-lived. Shortly after the Cattle scored Leblanc launched a magnificent rocket from his 30-yard line that Brian Davis caught in full stride and carried all the way to the Longhorn end zone. Lesser teams might have collapsed but Longhorns regrouped and dominated the fourth quarter playing most of it within Queen territory. One drive put them as close as the Queen five yard line. That was negated by an offensive charging penalty and subsequent Queen interception by Gary Lockwood. After that aborted drive, the herd defence again hung tough and with two minutes left to play the Longhorns regained possession on the Queen 50 yard line. The champions were in trouble.

For the second time in as many weeks however a Lockwood came to his team's rescue. Longhorn QB McCandless called another flood play and lofted a ball towards Bill Allison. But the play that had worked so well earlier in the game went awry as Queen defender Ken Lockwood intercepted the pass. With only three plays left, Dairy Queen downed the ball and won its third GFFL championship and second in a row. They became the third league team, along with Smokers and Greeks to win three titles. No doubt they will be back next year in an attempt to extend that record to four.

Madarasz Chiropractic Group wins second grid championship

By LEANNE FOURNIER

Madarasz Chiropractic Group won their second consecutive championship as they defeated H and H Video 19-13.

The stage was set for a great battle as Madarasz and H and H placed first and second respectively, in the standings. In their two matches against one another they split decisions.

The first quarter saw no score as Leanne Fournier picked off a pass to kill the first Madarasz drive. The second quarter saw some fancy footwork by Michelle Michim as she danced into the endzone. With three plays left at the half, H and H threatened but missed a field goal to give them the one point safety.

In the third quarter, H and H Video moved in close but Lisa Allen snagged another interception to keep the Group in the lead. The fourth quarter was a battle as each team scored 2 T.D.'s. Michelle Michim had her second TD of the game as she scampered through H and H's defence. Jenny Thompson kicked the convert. H and H used their "never say die" motto and marched down the field to score on a Julie Fournier major. On the ensuing kickoff, Lisa Allen picked up the ball and ran 50 yards for the Group's third major of the day. H and H moved down the field to score one more time on a Jackie Wickens reception. H and H then recovered their own kickoff but time ran out and the Chiropractic Group celebrated another well deserved victory.

In consolation action, Mak Steel beat J.V. Jets 20-12. The Waters girls did most of the damage with Donna Waters grabbing a TD and an interception while Cathy Waters had a TD and a 2 pt. convert. Charlene Ridley scored the other major. Herminia Henderson and Lorraine Brown each put points on the board for JV but it just wasn't enough.

Cross-country Rebels shine at annual New York state competition

By GREG SHOLDICE
Herald Special

At the Gullerland invitational cross country meet in New York on the weekend, Georgetown District High School cross-country runners did quite well, having Rebel team members finish in the top 10 in all six categories.

The Frosh girls finished second in their division and had two runners place in the top five. Sheril Cave was third with a time of 9:49.5, while Sheri Naim was right behind in fourth with a time of 9:51.6. Toni McClements and Sonja Letarneck were 14th and 16th respectively too in the mile-and-a-half race.

The Frosh boys did well also, finishing third in their division, and having Rich Bond finish seventh overall with a time of 8:33.5. Kevin Tanas finished 11th with a time of 8:40.7, followed closely by Paul Lalonde, Brent Couling and Jake Mashinter who were 12th, 29th and 35th respectively. The interesting aspect of that is Couling and Lalonde are only in the seventh grade while Tanas is in Grade eight, but still ran in the two-and-a-half mile event.

The Junior Varsity girls had two runners in the top 30. Sandra Heaton finished 14th with a time of 17:52.1 while teammate Shannon Snyder was 27th with a time of 18:51.3. Seventy-six competitors ran the two-and-a-half mile course.

The Junior Varsity boys finished the day with a fourth place finish overall as Paul Tufford, Terry Dixon and Cam Herman all finished in the top twenty. The three were fifth, 16th and 18th respectively in that race which was two-and-a-half miles.

The Varsity girls took advantage of the good cross country conditions and Amy Powers ran to an amazing second place finish overall. Her time of 14:26.6 was enough to give the Rebel runner the seventh best time ever recorded in this class. Rebels Linda Wenham (15th), Nancy Mustard (21st), Tara Bouskill (22nd) and Shawn Langdon (28th) also ran the event.

The Varsity boys really pushed the leaders, having five runners in the top 30 of 86 runners competing. Dave Paul and Brendan Clary led this push placing seventh and eighth respectively, followed by Jim Clark (16th), Jeff Amato (19th) and Glenn Mulder (29th).

The entire meet was a success for the Georgetown runners even with the tough courses, nippy conditions and awesome competition. Rebel coach Karen Cosgrove said had her team accumulated the 16 points it gathered this year at last year's event, Georgetown would have won the overall school title. However, the Rebels had to be content with second place overall in the 45-school field. Georgetown was one of just two Canadian schools to compete in the New York event. The other was Bay Ridge of Kingston.

Skating program cancelled

There will be no free skate at the Acton Arena Oct. 3. Due to the warm weather the ice cannot be put in. Sorry skaters.

Soccer schedule quite busy

I thought long and hard before putting paper in the machine for the last series of columns for the 1986 season. There was so much in the past week, even although the soccer club youth boys and girls, ladies have all finished and all we were left with was the men's Inter County semi-finals and finals. Long and hard thought due to the circumstances surrounding the games - weather, re-arrangements for players, team officials and referees and linesmen.

The 'B' division semi-finals took place on Wednesday as scheduled and went off very well in terms of sportsmanship, behavior and play in two excellent matches which from all accounts were hard fought and even until the winners were decided. After getting the field and dressing rooms ready and watching just a little of the first game I had to leave and returned later to close up.

As it was Rangers took most of the game to contain a lively Villa 'B' squad and eventually ran out 3-1 winners, the result going to the form book. Another form book result arose with Trexcon's win over Park Avenue Collision. The only marred incident came a few minutes from the end when Aurelio

Garcia of Park was ejected for continuing dissent to the referee and would not shut up.

The re-arranged 'A' division games went on on Thursday evening, and with the first match came controversy and ugly incident I regret to report. These two items rarely appear at the correct time, usually at the wrong time. Monday's cancellations meant considerable changes to all the concerned personage, something which appears to have eluded some brains. The only advantage, if such be the case, went to the Works department staff who put in extra work on the field and lights.

As league president I was aware of who was not officiating the White/Ajax clash. I was not aware of who was officiating, 15 minutes or less before the game. Bryan Turner, who had been standing by for all semis was pressed into service.

Peewees enjoying successful exhibition

Georgetown's DRG Stationery Peewees have completed five pre-season games and sport a record of four wins and a loss.

The club opened their season with back to back victories on home ice against Acton and Markham. Peter Downs and Dusty Lane shutout Acton 2-0 while Duane Lewis and Adam Hills scored the goals. Georgetown notched a 2-1 over Markham with Trevor Elinisky and Rob Lang getting the goals.

In game three the Guelph AAA's left town with a 4-1 victory. Elinisky scored our only goal and after this contest the Georgetown team roster was finalized.

This past weekend the Stationery crew posted identical 3-1 victories in Cambridge and at Westwood Arena over the Mississauga Jets. Both John Katsilieris and Dusty Lane had strong games between the pipes while the defence cleared their zone well. Elinisky had two goals in each game with Trent Cull getting the winner in Cambridge and Doug Crawford doing the same in Toronto.

In the five games assists went to Hills (6), Cull (2), Sean Guistini (2), Crawford, Jason Smith, Adam Hagen, Lewis, and Steve Brown. The Peewees are back in Guelph for a return match before they open their regular season in Brampton on Sunday.

Bowling

WED. MIXED SOCIAL LEAGUE
The influx of Y.B.C. graduates into the Wed. Mixed Social League at the Georgetown Bowling Centre has increased the competition in the top echelon of the bowlers. Andy Parent started the first game with 344 while Tony Zillo had 275 and Ron McGowan 230. McGowan came through 223 in the second game to take the lead with a 553 double. Zillo's 255 moved him in to second place with 530 when Parent's 166 dropped him to 512. However, Parent powered to 305 in the third game for a 817 triple while McGowan finished with 742 and Zillo with 735 and Arnie also pulling up to tie Zillo. Andy Parent's wife Wendy, in the beginning also gave him a battle with 278 and 254 for a 530 double to lead by 18 pins. But the "unmentionable" third game proved a quicksand.

CLUB TROUBADOUR
The Sunday evening French League, the Club Troubadour, at Georgetown Bowl are starting to roll up to tradition. On Sunday Sept. 28, the five-pin trundlers demonstrated their ability with Laurent Larocque rolling 705 (247) and Gaston Larocque 607 (256) while Michel Therberge holding the league high average with 313 was away. The distaff side of the league and still tops was the splendid effort of Denise Larocque, holding the highest average in the league who continued with a 602 triple with 241 the highest game.
