

Against the odds

PAT WOODE

The weather will soon be getting warmer and our thoughts may then turn to plans for the summer vacation.

Barrier-free facilities are not always easy to locate, however. If you are looking to find a country getaway, then Eaglewood Retreat in Georgina, Ontario could be the answer. A two-storey farmhouse, situated on a 90-acre site surrounded by woodland and wildlife, has been transformed and added to creating an environment suited to the disabled. The main floor level includes light switches and counters that are lower, electrical outlets that are higher, wider doorways and lots of floor-to-ceiling windows. The kitchen is large and bathroom facilities are accessible.

There is a wide variety of indoor and outdoor recreation activities. These include a piano, and open wood stove, books, stereo recordings, board games, ping-pong, cards, etc. They also have volleyball, badminton, horseshoes, lawn darts, a sand box, and a campfire pit with benches.

Mrs. Marilyn Oldfield, a registered nurse, is the owner and instigator of this industrious but worthwhile project. To date she has spent $150,000 of her own money to renovate the premises and cut cross country ski trails (some that are paved for wheelchairs). Future goals call for 12 semi-detached cabins and a miniature golf course that are wheelchair accessible, as well as stocked ponds and more trails.

The year-round retreat is very reasonable. All facilities and accommodations are provided at a family rate of $25 per night. Its proximity to shopping, entertainment, medical clinic, and Lake Simcoe all add to its appeal.

For information or reservations, phone (416) 722-8919 or (705) 437-1634, or write Eaglewood Enterprises, P.O. Box 256, Pefferlaw, Ontario L0E 1N0.

Steps have been taken by the provincial government which now allows Ontario Travel Information to be accessible to the hearing impaired. The TDD number is (416) 965-6027.

Do you want to have an evening of fun, dancing and music?

The event will take place at St. Andrew's United Church, 88 Mountainview Rd. South, Georgetown, at 8 p.m. on Friday, May 1st. Tickets can be obtained from members by contacting 877-1436 in Georgetown or 853-2043 in Acton. Please advise early if you require the use of the ActiVan or sign interpreter.
