Halton Hills is a unique community with a blend of the past, the present and the future. The development and growth that has taken place within the past 20 years in town has not detracted from the charm and heritage of the past.

Bob Law has provided the community with numerous sketches of Halton Hills over the years. His greeting cards with local scenes are a favorite with those who want to send to friends, with pride, a picture of "my town". Mr. Law has kindly allowed us to reproduce three of his drawings on this page, including a print of the old Georgetown High School. This year is the 100th anniversary of the school and a gala celebration weekend is planned for this summer.

Optimism is the best word to describe the mood of the industrial and business sector in Halton Hills for 1987.

Compared to some bleak years recently when many companies were just trying to break even, our industrial leaders are now talking of expansion and growth.

Over the past while, our writers have contacted some businesses in the area to profile what has been happening since a year ago. We've tried to focus on a number of different firms to provide an overview of the progress in the community.
