ASK DICK KLEINER

Jackson is still 'King'

By Dick Kleiner

Dear Dick: We watch "Scarecrow and Mrs. King" every week and enjoy it tremendously. So glad they are now married. Only problem is we heard that Kate Jackson no longer wants to do the program. Is this true? — Unsigned, Racine, Wis.

Dear Unsigned: No. Kate, through her company, Shoot the Moon Productions, owns 20 per cent of the show. So there is a lot of money at stake, and she is wrapping up the fourth year of a five-year contract, so you can bet she'll be back next year, and happy to be back. If the network picks it up again, I think the show has lost a lot of its punch, with Mrs. King becoming Mrs. Scarecrow, and the ratings have fallen off some, too.

• Dear Dick: Can you find out where Bill Cosby gets the sweaters he wears on his show? — K.M.H., Amarillo, Texas.

Dear K.M.R.: The people in charge of costumes for "The Cosby Show" tell me they get sweaters from three manufacturers — Missoni, Klaus van der Aker and Alexander Julian — and then let Cosby pick the ones he likes. Since those three are national brands, try at the better men's furnishing stores in Amarillo. You might find some, tucked between the cowboy boots and the string ties. • Dear Dick: A friend of mine taped Johnny Carson's 25th anniversary show on his VCR. You can imagine how thrilled he was when I accidentally erased it. Actually, he was very nice about it and that's why I would like to locate a copy of it on a VHS cassette. Where might I find one? — S.C., Fort Mill, S.C.

Dear S.C.: Nowhere. NBC has not yet given permission to anyone to sell Carson cassettes. And, since it was a special show for a special time, it is unlikely it will be telecast again.

• Dear Dick: We saw where John Gibson (Gipson) had been in "One Life to Live." I watch this all the time and don't remember seeing him. Can you tell me what part he played and when? — Mrs. C.M.W., Jacksonville, Texas.

Dear Mrs. C.M.W.: The people on the show say that he hasn't been on the show in their memory. At least, he was never under contract. It's possible he was a day player, they don't keep records of all the day players who take bit parts. But he was certainly no regular.

Works of art

The Burlington Sculptors' and Woodcarvers' Guild always produce impressive pieces of art work. The talents of Russ Black, John Hewitt, John Murray, Fred Rheinlander and Earl Robinson will be on display at the Mountsbury Wildlife Centre Saturday and Sunday May 30 and 31, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The artists will also be there, putting finishing touches on their work. Come see them. For more information, call 854-2276 or 336-1158 weekdays.
