Snow White (Laura Groskorth) convinces the woodcutter (Sue Fel Tan) not to kill her in the Halton Hills School of Dancing production of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. The dance troupe played to a packed house at a matinee performance at the John Elliott Theatre Sunday.

The controversial limestone quarry in Acton seen here is big enough to hold more than 15 tonnes of garbage. United Aggregates, the owner of the quarry, has joined with Comcor Waste Management in a proposal to turn it into a dump. Shieldings Incorporated, the parent company of Comcor, says tipping fees at the Acton dump would be 30 per cent cheaper than the two preferred sites proposed for Burlington and Milton. No toxic wastes would be allowed in the quarry which Shieldings hopes to have in operation by the end of this decade. (Herald photo)
