Twins Luke and Dylan (right) McCallum enjoy the outing at the Canada Day celebrations in Ballinfad. The 2½ year olds were in the noon-hour parade, then retired with the rest of the people to the community hall for games and refreshments. (Herald photo)

Celebrity seniors joined the parade at the Ballinfad Canada Day celebrations. Jessie Madill, 83, and Phidela (Snow) Drouillard (right) were two of the elderly citizens in the village who participated in the festivities. They were escorted to the Ballinfad Community Hall by Phidela's grandson Gregory Snow dressed in a top hat. (Herald photo)

There's something about a birthday party that brings out the clown, or the animal in all of us. And the Canada Day celebrations at Ballinfad were no exception, as these revellers took part in the festivities. (Herald photo)

Canada Day Many Happy Returns

Never let it be said that Halton Hills residents don't know how to enjoy a good party. There were all kinds of action last Wednesday as people got into the spirit of Canada's 120th birthday celebrations. These are just some of the people who got together in Glen Williams and Ballinfad to wish our country many happy returns

Women "with a good arm" were invited to join the log sawing competition at the Glen Williams Canada Day celebrations. The average cutting time was about two minutes. (Herald photo)

Soaking up potential fires along the way with imaginary water, the Ballinfad Fire Department took to the streets for Canada Day, ensuring laughs, if not safety, for everyone. The volunteers are Ed Tooke, David MacDonald and Kent McIure. (Herald photo)

A popular event for children at the Glen Williams Canada Day event was a horse ride around the Main Street parking lot. It was also one of the most expensive — 50 cents per trot. (Herald photo)

Rockets of light shot skywards during the June 29 fireworks display at Acton's Prospect Park, the exhibition of color was hosted by the Acton firefighters and made possible by generous donations by businesses and individuals. (Photo by Simon Wilson)

"Show us those games" was the cry during the Best Legs in Town Contest in Glen Williams Saturday. The winner was defending champion Mike Miles with Ian Jarvey and Henry Gumiljk coming in second and third place. (Herald photo)

The Ballinfad Play Group were a handsome lot of boys and girls dressed up in a variety of theme costumes. Their float was one of the more colorful, and won a ribbon for its contribution to the Canada Day parade. The parade began at 12 noon, followed by a host of other activities such as horse shoe pitch, fish pond, crown and anchor and races for the children. (Herald photo)
