

Halton Hills Outlook

The Ontario Trail Riders Association ended its day-long ride Sunday at 6 p.m. at Scotsdale Farms near Ballinafad. The small group experienced some soggy ground along the way but the sun was shining for most of the day, making the scenic autumn ride an enjoyable one. (Herald photo)

Day care spaces empty - Flynn

Regional council will be renewing a contract for a day-care co-ordinator, who will monitor day-care systems in Halton.

The issue sparked some debate at the council meeting Wednesday when Oakville Councillor Kevin Flynn told members he had been contacted by a Burlington day-care worker.

The caller suggested that the Region should review its policy on opening new centres because some existing spaces are empty, Mr. Flynn said.

Mr. Flynn then asked council to defer the recommendation to renew the contract until the charge could be discussed.

The councillor also suggested that Regional Council form a clear policy on day-care instead of following vague provincial trends towards subsidized day-care.

"We're just groping in the dark," Mr. Flynn said. "And if these numbers are right, this action is a grope in the wrong direction."

Milton councillor Bill Johnson said he was not prepared to listen to hearsay.

Burlington councillor Walt Mulkeewich agreed and added that if the matter were put off, the Region would be further behind in developing sufficient day-care for the area.

"The trend is for non-private sector day-care in Ontario," he said. "If we don't pass this now, people out there will be saying, 'those councillors are really out to lunch.'"

Kevin Flynn reminded council that he was originally a strong supporter of the recommendation. However, since he received the phone call, he wanted the issue reviewed, he said.

When the question was called, Kevin Flynn and Oakville Mayor Bill Perras were the only councillors who voted in favor of deferral.
