Furnace warnings

With winter just around the corner, the annual ritual of "getting ready to cope with a Canadian winter" will begin shortly. We clean up the yard and make sure rakes, hoses, garden hose, fertilizers, etc. are properly stored. In their place is the snow shovel, or the new electric plow, and a supply of sand and salt.

Soon, furnaces, fireplaces, wood-burning stoves and kerosene heaters will be operating to capacity.

"This is the time we must be aware that a malfunctioning non-electric furnace, heater, stove or fireplace can produce combustion products which can be deadly if trapped inside the home", warns Cindy Sheherban, Health Education Consultant for the Lung Association.

The Lung Association - Halton Region is concerned about this home hazard and how exposure to deadly gases can harm the lungs.
