Streak snaps for Jr. Rebels

A string of volleyball victories dating back to the start of the 1985 season for the Georgetown District High School Junior Rebels has finally been snapped.

The end came Thursday when the Rebels hosted the White Oaks Wildcats and lost a best-of-three encounter 15-10, 13-15, 5-15.

The Junior Rebels won every regular season match in 1985 and 1986, and the loss Thursday was their first of the 1987 campaign, dropping their record to 6-1.

"I anticipated White Oaks would be a good team," said Georgetown coach Bob McKay following the loss. "We met them earlier in tournament play, and they had knocked off Oakville Trafalgar. Their setting was right on. They definitely deserved to win."

McKay felt the turning point of the match came midway through the second game. "There were two consecutive serves we didn't get in when it was 9-5 (for White Oaks). That was the match in essence."

For whatever reason, the Rebels showed "rigidity in the back row," according to McKay, which contributed to their downfall. "We just didn't play the net as effectively as we usually do, and we didn't bump the volleyball like we can. Tonight, we stood around. You can't win at this level standing around."

McKay gives the Wildcats full marks for the victory. After jumping out to an 8-2 lead in the final game, they continued to attack. "When they got the big lead, instead of just laying back, they kept coming," McKay says.

Naturally, the loss was a tough pill to swallow for the Georgetown players, and it showed. But the mark of any good team is its ability to rebound, and learn from setbacks. McKay believes he has just such a team.

"They're good kids," he says. "They're not a great team yet, but eventually they're going to be very exciting to watch."

Only three of the players on the roster will move up to the senior ranks next season due to their age.

Friday morning at 7:15 a.m., it was back to business as usual as McKay put the team through a practice to "work off the loss."

This week, the Rebels will round out their regular season. Tuesday, they were scheduled to host Queen Elizabeth Park, and Thursday they travel to Milton for a match with E.C. Drury.

Cougars scoring parade helped by Robson's aim

The Georgetown Ladies Basketball League opened the new season recently, and in the first two weeks of play, it was the Trojans who got off to the best start.

In opening round play, the Trojans dumped the Mustangs 60-48, while the Cougars clawed the Capricorns 66-37.

Rebecca Caverly led the Trojans' scoring attack with 18 points, while Alice Ogden contributed 12 and Daiga Zelek added 10. Other scorers for the Trojans included Anita Stankus with eight, Pat Nesset and Mary Kelly with six apiece, and Sandra Cousens with two.

Chung Kim paced the Mustangs with 12 points, while Lorraine Brown had 10, Penny Wright added six, Mariann Lott, Diane Gardner, Mel McCracken, and Penny Cassita had four each, and Kelly Cunningham added two.

In the other tilt, Linda Robson topped the Cougars' scoring parade with 16, while Marie Smith had 12, Nat Pacheco added 10, Boo Tufford had nine, Janet Tolton had eight, Judy Thomson contributed seven, and Sue Cooke and Cheri Osborne had two apiece.

Laurel Heinz and Deb Barber paced the Capricorns' attack with eight points each, followed by Tracey Yorke with seven, Kerry Gibson with six, Wendy Forsyth with four, and Tracy Pilat and Maureen Kerr with two apiece.

In league action last Wednesday,

Ladies Basketball

the Trojans kept up their winning ways with a 52-40 decision over the Cougars.

The other contest saw the Mustangs down the Capricorns by the score of 89-37.

Daiga Zelek had the hot hand for the Trojans as she dropped in 22 points. Anita Stankus had 10 for the Trojans, while Rebecca Caverly added six, Pat Nesset had five, June Nicholson had four, and Mary Kelly and Sandra Cousens had two apiece.

For the Cougars, Marie Smith had 12 points, Judy Thomson had nine, Kyra Kristensen-Irvine had six, Linda Robson added five, Boo Tufford had four, and Nat Pacheco and Cheri Osborne had two each.

The Mustangs had five players who saw double-digits in the scoring. Lorraine Brown, Wendy Moore, and Chung Kim all had 14 points, while Mariann Lott had 13, and Carol Kovacevic added 10. Other scorers for the Mustangs included Kelly Cunningham and Penny Wright with eight apiece, and Diane Gardner and Enid Glendhill with four each.

For the Capricorns, Kerry Gibson and Wendy Forsyth had 11 points each, Maureen Kerr and Kelly Pilat had four apiece, Tracy Pilat had three, and Deb Barber and Jen Reynolds contributed two each.

Several new players are with teams in the league this year, and it looks as though competition will be close.

The GBLB plays every Wednesday night at Centennial School, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Gervais bowls for $43,000

Georgetown, again, has a representative going to Toronto to try to capture the Provincial Finals of the Carling-O'Keefe Championship Bowling T.V. Series and the right to represent Ontario in the Prestigious $43,000 prize competition on CBC.T.V.

The winner of the 10-game qualifying event at Georgetown Bowl on Oct. 18, was Roger Gervais who narrowly defeated last year's rep, Andy Parent, by rolling over a 249 average for the day.

Brinley Hole started the competition with a leading 290 first game but 306 second game of Roger Gervais moved him into the lead. This was short-lived as in the third game 4 bowlers pulled ahead of the Gervais tied with Rolly Prevost 681 - Brinley Hole 743, Paul Chaplin 730, Julie McCorry 723 and Andy Parent 718. After the fourth game, Andy Parent lead with 999 followed by Julie McCorry 970, Paul Chaplin 936 and Gervais 931.

Then Gervais came up with 390 high game to move into first place with 1321, Julie McCorry had 1205, Brinley Hole 1200 and Tom Prouse 1190 by virtue of 332 with Parent next with 1178. From then on, Gervais stayed on top although his lead was slowly whittled down by parent, McCorry, and Chaplin, all looking for a break. The finish came with Roger Gervais 2491, Andy Parent 2432, Julie McCorry 2382 and Paul Chaplin 2335.

The remaining competition was up and down but unable to maintain any consistency as the winners of the high single awards in each set show. Brinley Hole in the first set; Roger Gervais in the second set; Paul Chaplin in the third set; Andy Parent in the fourth set; Roger Gervais in the fifth set; Andy Parent in the sixth set; Paul Chaplin in the seventh set; Gord Lane in the eighth set.

Seniors dominate opponents

The Georgetown District High School Senior Rebels upped their record to six wins against just one loss in the Halton East Valleyball Conference, as they downed White Oaks in a best-of-three match Thursday.

The Rebels had an easy time against the visiting Wildcats winning 16-9, 15-11.

Georgetown took an early lead in the opening game as they jumped ahead 7-3. White Oaks fought back to within two points at 8-6, but were unable to do much more from there.

The Wildcats managed to stir things up a little in the second game when they went ahead 4-0. But the Rebels caught up and went point-for-point with the visitors until pulling away at 10-10. Alexander Oldaker served out in the game for the 15-11 decision.

A third game between the two teams provided some solace for White Oaks, although it meant little. At one point, the Wildcats led 9-0 and 13-2. They held off a Rebels' surge to win the game 15-13.

Georgetown coach Russ Linney wasn't particularly enthused about the efforts of his charges, regardless of the result.

"It wasn't one of our better matches," he said following the games. "The players knew the competition wasn't that tough going in because we'd played White Oaks earlier."

Linney said he changed the rotation for the match which made a bit of a difference. "We made some mistakes which we shouldn't have, but when we had to get the points, we settled down and did."

On the weekend, the Rebels travelled to Kitchener for a 29-team tournament at Forest Heights. Linney expected the competition to be tough, and hoped it would help the team in their regular league play.

Tuesday, the Rebels hosted Queen Elizabeth Park for a match, and this Thursday they travel to Milton to face E.C. Drury, which will round out their regular schedule for the season.

Girls basketball squad led by Mason's 24 pts.

The Georgetown Senior Girls Basketball team remains undefeated after six starts.

The Rebelettes upped their record to 6-0 by downing Queen Elizabeth Park on the road Oct. 15.

The lopsided 52-29 score was due to a balanced team scoring effort, Georgetown coach Moe Leeking said.

The win keeps Georgetown in a first place tie with Acton Redmen who are also 6-0, Mr. Leeking said. "It was a good balanced team effort," Mr. Leeking said of Thursday's victory.

Guard Lisa Mason chalked up 24 points but the rest of the scoring was spread fairly evenly.

High scorers in the game were Jenny Melville, Shanna Long, Heather Lawrence and Tara Burroughs.

Coch Leeking knew his charges would be a strong team this year but he's very happy with their undefeated streak this far in the season.

The ten-game season will wrap up with eight of the teams making the playoffs.

Six players returning from last year have given the rebelettes the experience.

"But you really know," Mr. Leeking said of Georgetown's expected performance. "I knew we'd be really strong."

We're just pleased we're on a streak," he said.

The senior girls tangled with T.A. Blakelock school Oct. 19. Blakelock is another team which is "breathing down our necks," Mr. Leeking said.

A big home and home series with Acton starts on Oct. 26.
