Alan Trammell is player of the year

NEW YORK (NEA) — Detroit Tiger shortstop Alan Trammell, the top all-around star at one of the game's toughest positions, has been named the 1987 World Almanac Player of the Year in major-league baseball.

Trammell, 29, was chosen No. 1 among the top players at each of the regular big-league positions. Also named to the World Almanac team were two starting pitchers, a relief pitcher and a designated hitter.

A veteran of 10 full seasons with Detroit, Trammell put up solid numbers this season — 28 home runs, 105 RBIs and a .343 batting average — for the American League East champs. He scored 109 runs and stole 21 bases.

The second annual World Almanac All-Major League Baseball Team was chosen by a panel of sports experts. Their selections were made on behalf of the World Almanac, which is co-sponsored by 140 newspapers, and its publisher, Newspaper Enterprise Association.

Here are the 1986 winners:

First Base: Don Mattingly. This New York Yankee dominates even in, for him, an off-year (30 HRs, 115 RBIs, .327 batting average). Mattingly hit a record six grand slams in 1987, and tied another record by homering in eight straight games. He did it all while missing 21 games; he was bothered by a hand injury.

Second Base: Juan Samuel. It wasn't a great year for second basemen. Samuel of the Philadelphia Phillies can be sloppy with his glove but seldom with his bat or feet. His '87 numbers (28 HRs, 100 RBIs, .272 batting average; plus 113 runs and 35 stolen bases) were by far the best at the position.

Shortstop: Alan Trammell. Tough call. After all, Ozzie Smith, who has re-invented the position defensively, stole 43 bases, hit .303 and drove in 75 runs (without a homer). But Trammell is no slouch with a glove and he can hurt you a lot more with his bat than his St. Louis Cardinal counterpart.

Big saves from Barber helps Peewees to win

In a home game Sunday it was goalie Josh Barber's turn to shine in net for Georgetown minor hockey Peewees.

Josh made several big saves to lead Georgetown to a 4-2 victory over Streetsville. The teams fought to 2-2 tie after two periods with Jim Kavanagh scoring the first Georgetown goal on a nice pass from Ryan Pirie.

Ryan Brain fired the second goal from Walker and Pickett. The winning goal was scored by Matt Downs as the big defenseman skated in from the point around the net stuffed the puck in the short side.

Todd Fuller scored the insurance goal with a little over a minute to play, tipping in Kavanagh pass from the corner.

Earlier in the week, the hard-working minor pee wees came out on a short end of three hard-fought close games.

Stoney Creek edged the locals 5-4 Oct. 11 in Stoney Creek. Scoring for Georgetown were Todd Fuller with two goals and singles to David Rivard and Ryan Pirie. Jim Kavanagh had a pair of assists with single helpers going to Pirie and Hamp.

Tuesday at Memorial Arena in Georgetown penalties proved to be costly as Chinguacousy scored three power play goals enroute to Hamp. Boyce and Paul Kabarski scored for the Georgetown with assists going to Ryan Brain, Fuller and Kavanagh.
