Legion ladies

By MID BURNSKI
Herald Special

With Remembrance Day coming up, there is a golden opportunity for our ladies to show their appreciation once again to our veterans. Your poppy chairman Joan Brown, 873-1157, needs you for one to two hours to help with poppy sales. Call Joan or Harral Brown, president of Branch 120 if you can come out, Thursday, Friday and or Saturday Nov. 5, 6 or 7.

We hope that our new and younger members will contribute this time as it is a privilege to sell poppies in the community we serve in and to show our respect for those who went before us. If you can spare the time, get in touch with Joan as soon as possible so that she may draw up her schedule. Anne Nicholson tells me that the dart night last Friday was a great success and she is looking forward to seeing a repeat performance on Friday night Nov. 13 for euchre upstairs in the auditorium. I made an error in last week's paper and it is not this Friday but, Nov. 13. So do come out to this one to help support your auxiliary darts. This is an open euchre for all and is $5. Team, registration at 7 p.m.

Don't forget District darts this Saturday at Acton. And good luck ladies. This will be a busy week, with poppy sales, and remembrance dinner and parade. So will wait till next week to bring you up to date on our up-coming bazaar, Nov. 21.

Hope you are enjoying this wonderful autumn.

Sewage grant

Ontario Environment Minister Jim Bradley announced this week the grant for the expansion of the Georgetown sewage treatment plant in the Regional Municipality of Halton has been increased by $908,050.

Based on an estimated cost of $13,970,000 for the project, the provincial grant will now be $3,003,500.

Psychiatrist's role

A child psychiatrist's role in assisting the learning disabled child will be the topic at a meeting Nov. 11 at 8 p.m. at the Lord Elgin High School in Burlington.

Hosted by the Halton Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities, the meeting's guest speaker will be Dr. Marino Battigelli. For more information call 634-0686.

Television program explains CAS role

Many myths surrounding child abuse have been peeled away by the media in recent years.

Numerous misconceptions, however, continue to exist about the agency responsible for intervening in troubled Halton families and helping the children who are in need of protection.

In an attempt to broaden public awareness and understanding of the role the Halton Children's Aid Society plays in the community, a new television program is being launched this fall by Oakville/Burlington Cablenet. Viewers in Milton, Georgetown and Acton will be able to watch the program on the Halton Cable Systems channel.

Entitled "CAS Cares", the monthly half-hour program will focus on the structure of the agency and the many individuals who work behind the scenes and on the front lines to carry out the agency's CARE Philosophy. (CARE stands for "Children and Adolescents, Reunification and Emancipation.")

The first program in the Halton CAS series, to be aired in late October or early November, features an overview of the agency. Subsequent programs will examine issues ranging from foster parenting to adoptions to some of the agency's innovative child abuse prevention programs - including those related to sexual abuse.

The program will afford viewers a unique opportunity to see interviews with personalities ranging from Halton CAS Executive Director Ron Coupland and Cas Board President Edith Hopkins to in-depth discussions with social workers, foster and adoptive families, agency volunteers and program leaders.

Post-polio meeting

There will be a public meeting, Nov. 2 at 7:30 p.m. hosted by the North Halton Chapter, Post-Polio Committee for anyone who has had polio, or knows someone that did. The meeting will be held at Halton Regional Health Department 93 Main St. in Georgetown. The speaker will be Pat Woode. For more information call 877-1787.

Brothers needed

More big brothers are needed for the Big Brothers of Halton Inc. If you know of someone who would make a good big brother or if you know of someone who has been thinking of applying, have them contact 845-6456 or 876-4756.

Norval bazaar

NORVAL - The Norval United Church is hosting a bazaar Nov. 7 from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. There will be a tea room and lots of items for sale.

Literary talk

The public is welcome to the next general meeting of the University Women's Club of Georgetown presenting two speakers from the North Halton Literacy Guild. Geraldine Barnes, teacher and founding member of the Guild and Marg Ward, teacher and long time guild member will be discussing their organization, how literacy classes are taught, and a question and answer period will be available.

The meeting is Tuesday, Nov. 3, 8:30 p.m. at Centennial Public School.

'Illiteracy' is a very serious problem affecting our population. In Halton Hills, 30 percent of persons over 15 years of age did not graduate from highschool, 12 percent have less than a Grade 9 education.
