WHO'S SUPERSTITIOUS?

Triskaidephobiacs, or people who are frightened of the number 13, had a tough time yesterday. Yesterday marked the third time this year we have had a Friday the 13th. Walking under ladders, breaking mirrors, spilling salt or having a black cat cross your path mean seven years bad luck. Dale Hoy, a Year 3 student at Acton High School, braves superstition by standing under one of the school's step ladders. (Herald photo)
