Park Lincoln earns praise from students

I'm back! Wow! This has been one incredible, flipped out week!

First of all, I, on behalf of the staff and students of GDHS, would like to extend a warm thank you to the kind staff of Park Lincoln-Mercury of Georgetown for their generous donation of a van to transport GDHS's Co-op students to and from their various Co-op locations.

Secondly, the GDHS midget boys basketball team won its first game, albeit an exhibition game, against Bishop Reding.

In other GDHS news... Have you seen it? Have you used it? The "new and improved" stairwell at the northern wing of GDHS was recently opened for use by staff and students. Because it has become such a focal point of traffic, I came up with an idea. That idea being: let's build another! Sure, why not? I'm sure we could scrap another stairwell (one which is perfectly good, of course) and build a new one. After all, we really don't need to use the library for anything like studying. It seems apparent that we will never get to see it completed - it was promised to us for the end of September.

First Class Rocks...no pun intended. GDHS rockers: First Class played this past Saturday during Centennial school's Rock-a-thon - and the audience loved them! So much so that the little rock fans were asking the band members for autographs! Could this be indicative of successes to come?

After some initial difficulties, the F.C. guys bounced back to play some originals, some classics, and some soon-to-be classics. During the grand finale, singer Greg Onopri-jenko, and Keyboardist Rychie McKeown, went out into the audience to retrieve "about 5" young fans, but were then overrun by approximately 150 screaming students onstage doing a high energy version of Mony Mony. Though this was certainly unexpected by everyone, it certainly put to rest any fears that First Class had lost its edge in crowd relations due to their seven months hiatus.

The GDHS version of Students Against Drunk Driving is currently in need of a logo. To rectify this problem they have put together a contest in which students have been asked to design and submit a new logo for S.A.D.D. The logo must be on 8 1/2 x 10 paper, include the school colors (red, white and blue) and either "I'm a S.A.D.D. Rebel", or "Be a S.A.D.D. Rebel". The draw will be made Dec. 14.

To end off this week's column, I would just like to say: any broken appliance will work perfectly when demonstrated to a repairman, but will discontinue functioning once that repairman has left.

Acton High

By LESLEY MCCRYSTALL

Last Thursday and Friday the AHS senior girls basketball team competed at the OFSAA 'A' basketball championships in Windsor. Acton won their first game against Nipigon Red Rock 60-29.

Acton went on to defeat Delhi 39-28. In their third game Acton was defeated by the second seed Vankleekhill 34-30.

Leading the scoring were Susan Craig with 53 points, Linda Bottero with 26, and Jennifer Scott with 24 points.

Last Friday and Saturday the senior boys volleyball team played in the OFSAA 'A' volleyball championships in Sudbury. Our players played very well and we won one of our matches and split three others.

Last week was also an exciting week for the senior boys basketball team. Acton travelled to White Oaks to take on the Wildcats. Unfortunately White Oaks defeated Acton by a score of 69-56.

High scorers for Acton were Alan Scott with 25 points, Kevin Galloway with 12 points and Greg Winiarz with eight points and a strong performance was given by Ralph Bacht.

In the Junior boys basketball, Acton defeated White Oaks by a score of 57-38. High scorers for Acton were Gerry Turple with 17 points, John Wilson with 16 points and Kevin Pristman with 14 points.

Congratulations to all swim team members for their super fast times at their swim meet last week.

Lord Elgin, T.A. Blakeck, Q.E. Park, Bishop Reding and Acton battled for positions. Acton placed second overall.

Special congratulations to Matthew Fleet who set a new record time in 50 butterfly and a new record time in breaststroke.

First place finishers were Carolyn Sewell, Tauni Sheldon, Leigh Gallant, Julie Heideman, Tracy Mayne, Jason Heideman, Sean Jeffrey, Todd DeForest, Matthew Fleet and Jason Phillip. Well done team!

This past Wednesday (Dec. 9) was AHS science exposition. This was the night where many science students finally got to show off their science herb, that they have worked on for months. Parents and friends had the opportunity to see these wonderful creations between the hours of 2:30 and 5 p.m. and again at 7 to 9 p.m.

Thursday, December 10 was the AHS' Christmas dance. The dance was a semi-formal occasion, and lasted three and a half hours, 7 to 10:30 p.m.
