The Georgetown Connection

The Olympic spirit was shared by two Georgetown residents Wednesday when they took their moment in the spotlight and ran in the Olympic Torch Relay. Janie Reid carried the torch for her one-kilometre leg, just east of Mono Mills, along Highway 9, and then passed it off to 11-year-old Tommy Dembie, who completed the next kilometre, as the torch makes its way to the Winter Olympics in Calgary. The two are among 7,000 runners who will relay the torch to Calgary.
