A Look Back

QUESTION

Name the Georgetown Geminal player who was presented with a trophy by club president Bob Thomson, in recognition of his scoring his 100th goal as a Gem, on Jan. 18, 1978.

ANSWER

Doug Barnes.

ASK KATHY

Dear KATHY

A friend told me that image is very important in the business world, especially when it comes to advancement. Is that true? Isn't that discrimination?

Reply:

While it isn't "fair," recent studies show that on the average, managers perceive overweight employees as being less efficient and less productive than their slender counterparts. Consequently, overweight employees are often passed over for important career advancements.

Johnson atoms drop two decisions

Johnson and Associates played host to Burlington Data Generals last Saturday. A pair of late goals broke open a close game, as the Generals came away with a 4-1 victory.

Georgetown scored the only goal of the tightly-played first period. Scott Wilson took the puck behind the Burlington net and fed a goalmouth pass to Craig Blair, who banged it home.

The defence played a solid period. Shannon Morris broke up a two-on-one. Jim Katsilieris and Evan Craighead defended a two-on-two perfectly, with Craighead taking the puck-carrier wide, and Katsilieris clearing the rebound. And Sean Mills tended goal with confidence.

Burlington took advantage of a couple of defensive lapses in the second period, to gain the lead. At 9:39, they capitalized on a three-on-one and at 3:58, they scored on a one-on-one. Georgetown's best scoring chances belonged to Blair and Wilson.

Johnson and Associates opened it up in the third in an attempt to gain the equalizer. Both Wilson and Wesley Burke had good scoring chances, with Wilson's being a clean-cut breakaway, but the locals couldn't tally. With only 6:18 left in the game, Burlington scored off the rebound on a three-on-two. And with only 1:48 remaining they finished off a two-on-one by scoring the final goal.

With the exception of a few break-downs, the locals played good defence. Morris, Katsilieris and Craighead blocked shots. Wilson, Burke and Stephen Yurichuk broke up opposition attacks with good backchecking. And Mills played well in goal.

On Sunday, the Major B Atoms closed out their regular season with a trip to Oakville to play the Major AA Atom Rangers. Again third period lapses resulted in four goals, as the Rangers won 5-0.

For the first two periods, tight defensive play kept the Rangers at bay. Their only goal resulted from a pass intercepted at the blue line. The ensuing shot was blocked, but the rebound came loose, and an Oakville player whacked it into the net. The locals' best scoring chance came when Blair set up Wilson in the slot, but the puck bounced over his blade.

In the third, Oakville scored four times - twice on powerplays - as the locals abandoned their defensive strategy, in favor of offence.

The team now has a week off, before starting its first playoff series, against Milton.
