All For Paul

A benefit fashion show held Wednesday night at Holy Cross Auditorium proved more successful than most people could have imagined. The fashion show, itself, for coma patient Paul Franks, raised $3,000. But as an added surprise, Janelle Lewis, whose father Bryan is chairman of the Make A Wish Foundation, presented a cheque for $2,000 on behalf of the foundation. Paul is being treated at a hospital in Pennsylvania, which specializes in coma patients, and the money goes towards defraying some of the family's expenses. Above, Janelle Lewis announces the contribution by Make A Wish, to the delight of Elizabeth McNeilly, (centre) owner of Elizabeth's Fashions, which put on the fashion show, and Mary Franks, Paul's mother.
