Scrub Day at Autohaus supports Canadian Cancer Society

Ted Gorth of the Georgetown Cancer Society was on hand at the Autohaus Volkswagen dealership Monday to receive a bagful of cash presented by Autohaus owner Conrad Buy (right). Workers at the dealership and their friends held a special car wash June 4 in honor of Lynda Lovelace who died of Cancer recently. Lynda was the mother of one of the employees at Autohaus. In all, 12 people washed 250 cars to raise almost $600 for the cancer society. (H. aid photo)

It was scrub-a-dub-dub for cars last Saturday as volunteers staged a free car wash on behalf of the Cancer Society at Autohaus

Georgetown on Guelph Street. Many generous motorists made donations to the cause, and in return were rewarded with spotless vehicles.
