

Outlook on Halton Hills

Ivy Porter was honored by her co-workers at Smith and Stone in Georgetown on her retirement after 59 years with the company Aug. 29. Mrs. Porter, who is married to husband Albert, was given a diamond ring and two farewell cakes following a plaque presentation by Mayor Russ Miller. Ivy's maiden name is Freestone. Her family has worked at the plant since the 1930s. The Freestone name will continue on at Smith and Stone as Ivy's nephew is also a worker there. Here, Smith and Stone president George McPhee helps Ivy cut the cake. (Herald photo)

Family asthma program

The Lung Association's "Family Asthma Program" helps families with asthmatic children to understand and cope with their condition. Guest speakers provide parents with information about asthma, medications, allergies and other pertinent topics while children enjoy a swimming and gym program. Children are taught diaphragmatic breathing and correct procedures for the use of inhalers as well as enjoying sports and games in the gym program. Programs begin at 8:45 p.m. on Oct. 11, at Aldershot High School in Burlington; 7 p.m. on Oct. 14, at White Oaks High School in Oakville; and, 11 a.m. Oct. 15 at Georgetown District High School, Halton Hills. There is a $10 registration fee for this program which is subsidized through Christmas Seal Donations. For registration, or for more information phone the Lung Association - Halton Region at 632-8499.
