

Kinsmen softball girls tackle the stretch drive

There was plenty of action last week in the Georgetown Kinsmen Girls Softball League with playoff finals just around the corner.

SENIORS
Dunlop Insurance gave too little too late, as their final half inning didn't count due to the expired time limit. Winning the game 7-2 was Pictures and Presents. (Dunlop scored six runs and only had two out when time ran out). Pitching for Pictures and Presents was Carolyn Stewart and for Dunlop was Liane Monchamp. Carolyn Stewart knocked in the game's single homerun. Game stars were Liane Monchamp and Carolyn Stewart.

In the second game of their double header, Dunlop came under the same luck. ReMax ran away with an 18-7 win. Pitching for ReMax were Susan "Scooter" Morey, Lorie Johnson, and Bridget McCauley. Liane Monchamp, Hanna Warren, and Jennifer Skinner had a chance at the mound for Dunlop. Smashing in a homer for ReMax was Bridget McCauley. Game stars were Liane Monchamp of Dunlop and Susan Morey of ReMax.
This week: The Finals! Pictures and Presents vs Mal Dodge's ReMax.

Total runs:
ReMax 18
Dunlop 9
P and P 7

INTERMEDIATE
Elks Lodge definitely played their best game of the year as they beat Kentner's Dairy Bar 14-9. Pitchers were Shari Loke, and Cindy Rouillard for Elks and for Kentner's were Carrie Walsh, Laura Doyle, and Kerri Van de Valk. Slamming in bag trippers were Kerri Van de Valk of Kentner's and for Elks Jenny Lorito and with two was Shari Loke. Game stars were Shari Loke and Kerri Van de Valk.
Delrex Smoke Shop almost snuck away with a surprise victory against Dairy Queen, but D.Q. pulled out a 17-14 win. At the mound for D.Q. were Joy Swain, Wanda Brown and Katherine Porritt while countering for Delrex were Kelly Puckering and Jennifer Koster. Crashing in homers were Wanda Brown, Katherine Porritt and Joy Swain of D.Q. and for Delrex were Denise Hannah, Karen Hannah, and Kelly Puckering (2). Game stars were Puckering, Swain, Porritt, and Brown.

PLAYOFF SCHEDULE
Game One: Thursday, Sept. 8, 6:15 p.m. start sharp! Elks Lodge vs Delrex Smoke Shop. The winner of Game One will advance to play Saturday, Sept. 10, as well as Dairy Queen, Optimist and Kentner's Dairy Bar.
JUNIORS
Standard Products pulled out their all to beat the Kinnettes, 24-16, in the final inning. Jessica, Kerry, and Jenny (2), had the homeruns for Standard Products. Game stars were the Kinnettes' team and Melinda, Angie and Jenny for Standard.

Powderpuff cliffhanger Crowns are Royal

Crown Royal and Go for Gold battled it out in a 17-16 cliffhanger as the Ladies Powderpuff League turned in another slate of exciting games last week.

Crown Royal 17
Go for Gold 16
It was a close match between these two teams. Crown Royal's Betty Flickema had a great game hitting a two run homer and a double and striking out two batters in the seventh inning to help clinch the win. Donna Robbins and Leanne Hall both hit a triple and a double. Great playing by the whole Royal team. Go for Gold made Crown Royal work for their win. Linda Smihelsky made a great line drive catch. Super effort by all Go for Gold players.
Broozers 17
Lucky Charms 10
It was a game of laughs for these teams with the Broozers taking charge for the win. Colleen Cadger hit a super double. Great centre field catch by Karen Tales that created a chaotic double play. Good game for Broozers. The Lucky Charms played a consistent game of defence but couldn't get the runs to score. Tammy Lockwood belted out an excellent homerun and made an awesome solo double play. Solid pitching by Anne Dale and Dini Adams. Oh Jays 15

Twisted Sisters 8
The Oh Jays poured on the juice for this ten run win. Julie Hills turned a double play in the fifth inning to make all three outs on her own. Melanie Worton pounded out another homerun to get the runs scoring. Good defensive playing by Sharron Cater at shortstop. Excellent playing by the Oh Jays. For the Sisters, Priella Reyce hit a triple and Pat Akers hit a double. Good fry by Twisted Sisters.
Rhythm in Blue 12
L'il Slinkers 8
Rhythm in Blue had their plays in tune to beat L'il Slinkers and to break their thirteen game winning streak. Blue batter Pat Herrington smashed out an excellent out-of-the-park homerun. Dawn Broadbent played an awesome game of defence in the field snagging everything in sight. Super pitching by Jean Puckering and Janet Ransom. Great team effort by all Rhythm in Blue players (who needs coaches anyways). L'il Slinkers finally found out that all good has to come to an end but they didn't let it get them down. Jan Walker gave her full effort banging out a triple and a double. Doubles also came off the bats of Julie Fournier and Virginia Walker.

Rat Pac 6
Bob's Cats 5
Rat Pac squeaked by with the win in the seventh inning. Sheila Andrews hit a nice triple. Sandy Robinson made some fine catches and pitched a strong game of ball. Bob's Cats' Robin Richardson and Laurie Henson each banged out a homerun. Marilyn Jones played solidly on third. Good first time pitching by Cindy Kemper. Great playing by both teams.
Dragon Ladies 5
Cobras 4
The Dragon Ladies started to breathe fire in the seventh inning. With the score 4-0 in the last inning and two out, the Ladies got their bats in gear to sneak ahead with the win. Bonnie Malenfant hit a timely triple and Sherri Diegel hit a double to help bring the Ladies on top. Excellent six shut out innings pitched by Betty Puckering and Janet Ransom. Great team effort by all Rhythm in Blue players (who needs coaches anyways). L'il Slinkers finally found out that all good has to come to an end but they didn't let it get them down. Jan Walker gave her full effort banging out a triple and a dou-

Place your bets on a big winner

LOON TUNES and OUTDOOR NOTES by Len Landry

"All right, ladies and gentlemen, place your bets!"

Welcome to our first annual Loon Tunes Fishing Contest, which offers excitement, prizes, and the luxury of enjoying the proceedings in the comfort of your own home (no wet boots, no rough seas). Everyone is eligible, and you don't even have to buy a ticket! (What do you think of that, Toronto Star Salmon Hunt?)

We figured that you'd had enough of "the misty, water-colored memories," in articles of recent weeks; enough, for now, "of the way we were."

It's time for some good-core waging, Halton Hills style! The rules and object of the game, are simple. All you have to do is correctly determine which member of the Clan Landry caught the biggest fish on our family's recent vacation to the near North. Points are awarded for your response on a scale of zero to ten, and remember: there are prizes if you answer correctly! Why, we'll even take your word for it!

The location was Kassabog Lake, near Lakefield, Ontario and the quarry was smallmouth bass, cooperative creatures that they are...

Now, here are your choices for the week's winning angler: 1) Lennon, our eldest, is now six years old, and is a Kosh Lake favorite. He's determined, fishes night and day, and prefers customized rods, and spin-cast reels, spooled with Trilene line (six-pound test). He casts well, and uses the hook-and-worm method almost exclusively. However, he is temperamental (like his mother) and easily frustrated (like his mother) and this sometimes affects his chances.

2) Sullivan, age four years, is known for her unusual name (an Icelandic-Irish variation, which translates to "blue-eyed girl from the sun") and she has an equally unusual fishing style: she prefers not to place her bait in the water and insists that she likes to see what's going on. Holding her hook and worm just above the lake surface, she squeals in delight when a fish is attracted by the strange technique. Her favorite is the sunfish, or bluegill, (again, the name should have told us that)...

3) Zachary, also known as ol' Sleepy Eyes, will be three years old on Sept. 17. He's always cool and calm (and if I said "like his father" just now, I could really get killed... so I won't say it...). Being a longshot in this contest would never bother ol' Zac. He copies Lennon a lot, but he needs practice in his casting... and in paying attention... to anything...

4) Rita, my wife, is the best fishing lady I've ever seen. Remember the story of her big pike? If only she had more time to spend on the water, she could probably teach Buck Perry a thing or two. She would have to be a big favorite in any contest of this nature.

5) Finally, there's "yours truly." So, make up your minds, place your bets, and no looking ahead! I'm talking to you, Ace!

Who caught the biggest fish? Who was the angler of the week? Look over the choices again, if you wish... we have time...

Have you made your choice? Okay, here we go...

We'll get the painful part over with first. Give yourself one point out of ten, if you voted for "yours truly"...

"The effort was there,

And I caught my share, But like Mother Hubbard, The Luck Shell was bare...

Sorry, no winners here, but I appreciated the vote anyway... Thanks, Mom...

We truly admire the people who rooted for Sullivan. You take chances. We like that! So what if the hook isn't in the water? Anyone knows that a bass will jump out and grab a cigar, if it's offered a puff... Alas, she gave a good effort, but there was no trophy on the end of her line, either. Give yourself a seven out of ten anyway, if you picked Sulla, and be assured that she plans to have those fish jumping through hoops by next season... After all, size isn't everything, right Sulla?

My wife Rita only spent about five minutes on the water because of cottage chores and other work involved in ensuring an enjoyable vacation. In that short time, however, she still managed to land some nice bass... but not a prize-winner. Give yourself eight points out of ten if you picked Rita. "A woman's work is never done, eh?" I'll tell you though, I'd never bet against Rita if she was given equal time on the water.

Now, we're down to the nitty-gritty...

And our first runner-up is... Lennon: always in the game, always determined, like we say, fishing night and day... always trying. Voting for Lennon gets you nine points out of ten. He wins the Best Effort Award this year, and he would have won the Big Fish Award too... if it wasn't for one little person...

Now, be honest... who picked Zachary? Who picked ol' Sleepy Eyes? Go to the head of the class! Give yourself ten full points!

You see, it all happened early one morning when Zac and I were the only ones awake. We decided to wander down the cottage steps, to the pontoon boat that was docked in the small bay. That pontoon boat is a great fishing platform, you know, and, before long, Zac had tossed his little baited hook into the calm water. "Near that stump..." I thought... and almost immediately, Zac's line started to move. After he finally engaged the line the actually placed the rod down to chase a spider at one point), Zac realized a battle was on...

"Hey, Dad... hey... I gaw, I gaw a fishie!" and his face widened with a broad smile, and his chubby cheeks tried to raise those lazy, Robert Mitchum eyelids. Well, that fish went up, and down, and around and under the pontoons, before succumbing. It was a very nice smallmouth bass... and it won the first Loon Tunes Fishing Contest, for ol' Sleepy Eyes.

So, if you guessed correctly that Zac was our winner, you can collect your prize at the office... Let's see now... we have Blue Jays' playoff tickets... free copies of next week's Loon Tunes... Say, how about a bumper sticker that says "I love landfill sites"... Um, 1987 Montreal Alouettes' Highlight Film... What's that? You don't like any of our rewards...?

Hey, we promised prizes... we didn't say they'd be worth anything...

SHORELINES: Speaking of landfill sites, Lois Gibbs will be coming to Georgetown to address this topic on Friday, Oct. 14, at the Georgetown High School. If you love the outdoor environment, you should attend. Watch for details in future editions of The Herald (Letters to the Editor, etc...). You may know that Lois is the lady who awakened America to the danger of the Love Canal toxic dump... And her main point is that all landfill sites are potentially hazardous.

ON THE HORIZON: "Nobody ever believes Michael". See you in two weeks.

Tykes teach parents a lesson

It's not often that a group of youngsters get to show their parents how to do something right. Or is it?

At any rate, the Acton minor tyke lacrosse league all-stars showed their parents how to play the game right as they defeated an all-parent team 10-6 in a season-ending fun game at the Acton Arena last week.

Chelsea Young led the tyke all-star effort with a three-goal hat-trick while singles came from Ryan Young, Jon Rutledge, Mathew Hall, Sandy Chapman, Paul Withers, Michelle Withers and Danielle Young. Tyke assists went to Thomas Wolfer, Kelly Turkozs, Jon Rutledge and Michelle Withers.

Mike Wolfer led the adult cause with a two-goal effort and Kim Young, Linda Newman, Eric Peterson and Cora Rutledge supplied solo markers. A lone parental assist was awarded to Ken Withers.

Other members of the tyke all-stars included: Kyle Artem, Lisa Fisher, Blair Ferguson, Chris Lee, Mary Beth Robertson, Richard Raju, Jeff Newman and Tina Peterson. The parents' team also included: George Artem, Alan Hall, Bob Turkozs, Gord Chapman, Bill Rutledge, Tasha Peterson and Hima Raju.

Meanwhile, final scoring statistics for the minor tyke lacrosse league were released last week and the overall scoring crown for 1988 went to Jon Rutledge with 30 goals and two assists for 32 points.

Kyle Artem took second spot with 14 goals and four helpers for 18 points while Kelly Turkozs grabbed third position on 14 points from an even seven-goal, seven-assist output.

The complete final scoring list was as follows:

G	A	TP.
30	2	32
14	4	18
7	7	14
9	2	11
7	3	10
