

An action-packed weekend at Georgetown's Fall Fair

Kids got into the swing of things at Georgetown's Fall Fair on the weekend. The Fair attracted a total of 18,000 visitors who enjoyed the sunshine, the exhibits, the midway and the agricultural presentations.

Elizabeth's Fashions, Main Street, Georgetown, demonstrated what fall's beauties will be wearing.

What fair is complete without sticky, gooey candy floss? Five-year-old Joey Stanfield enjoys a bit Whirling and flipping, members of the Halton Hills Gymnastics Club wooed the crowd at Georgetown's Fall Fair on the weekend.

Crowds of people at the Fair Sunday afternoon enjoyed entertainment put on by Air Fantasy, a trampoline troupe.

Photos by Donna Kell

This little fellow enjoyed the mid-way Saturday on a rocket ride.

Now who's clowning around? This member of a children's clown band entertained Fairgoers Sunday afternoon.

A jovial clown spurs on the crowd during a performance at the Georgetown Fall Fair.

Alicia Collins, 4, and Julia Crane, 10, both of Georgetown, took time out from the midway and the stage shows to pet a calf Sunday afternoon.

Horses at the Fall Fair were groomed and ready for action as crowds gathered around the grandstand to watch.