"As the fruit flies . . ."

One might ask, "Who really cares about the reproduction of the fruit fly anyway?" but to Wendy Perkins, a Grade 11 student at Acton High School, the question has great relevance. Wendy's was one of many exhibits on display at the school's Science Fair, Wednesday. Her project delved into "What is the best environment for the reproduction of fruit flies?" It tested the efficiency of fruit fly population growth in varied and restricted environments.
