

Outlook on Halton Hills

A light week on the school scene

Hello again, and what's up? Not a lot going on at GDHS this week, but I'll give you the low down on what is going on (even if it is a little on the short side).

There was a midget girls volleyball tournament held at GDHS this past Wednesday. Teams from Bishop Reding, Acton HS, Milton HS, as well as the GDHS team were spikin', an' diggin', an' face-passing (some girls took this far too literally), their way to a victory spot. Unfortunately final results were unavailable as to who the tournament champs were at press time.

Two questions here: first, just what is that contraption Mr. Lawrence's woodworking class was building on the stage all last week? Secondly, isn't it going to be rather difficult to move? It looks a little on the heavy side, and could be difficult to move.

And speaking of the tech subjects... The tech teachers are trying out something new at GDHS starting soon. The Technical Education department in the school will be offering several all-girls classes in woodworking, automotive, electricity, etc... The purpose of these classes is not to segregate, but rather to give girls who might be apprehensive about taking a tech class with boys, but still desire some technical knowledge, an opportunity.

GDHS band, DJ's Nightmare (formerly Smalltown Bringdown) played a really rockin' set last Sunday night at a local nightclub. In short, the packed house loved the band. Look for them to be playing throughout the area, as well as the third annual "High School Battle of the Bands" at the Concert Hall in Toronto.

GDHS students are really starting to buckle down and study for the dreaded bi-annual exams (Yeah, I know I'm lying, but I've

Woman charged in accident

A Mississauga woman was charged with careless driving and having open alcohol in the car following an accident that demolished two cars and severely damaged a third last Saturday night.

Halton Regional Police say the 1974 Chevrolet Nova driven by the Mississauga woman, 25, was southbound on Academy Road around 6 p.m., when it struck two parked cars, a 1983 Plymouth and then a 1986 Camaro, both owned by Georgetown men. The Nova and the Plymouth were demolished. The Camaro was severely damaged.

The driver of the Nova was taken to Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital by police, where she was treated for minor injuries and released. A passenger in the Nova, a Brampton man, 24, was uninjured.

gotta make it look good for the staff, eh). Exams start Tuesday, except for OAC English students who get to start a day before everyone else on Monday. Was Hamlet really crazy or was he just faking it? Let Will decide, I've got other OACs to worry about.

The Rebels boys basketball team was in action this past Tuesday. Unfortunately, the end results could have been better. The midgets won, but both the junior and senior teams lost, all to Oakville-Trafalgar HS.

I've said my piece, and now I've got to go (ahem) 'study.' Probably won't be writing again until next semester. See ya'll then...

Trails council formed

The Ontario Trails Council (OTC) has been formed from representatives of the various and many trail user associations in Ontario.

In November 1988 at Ballantrae, executive representatives of 14 different trail user groups representing approximately 50,000 members plus government representatives and interested individuals unanimously endorsed the proposed Constitution and Corporate Plan, thereby forming the Ontario Trails Council.

Mavis McCullum, Pro Tem Chairman, of Stouffville, Ontario was enthusiastic about the endorsement. "The formation of the Ontario Trails Council is an important step forward in securing a recreational trails system for all individuals and group associations in Ontario." The Ontario Trails Council will be the singular voice for trail users in Ontario, including hikers, equestrians, cross country skiers, cyclists, physically-challenged persons, canoeists, etc.

"The over 1500 kilometres of abandoned railway corridors in the province present an unprecedented opportunity to establish an integrated multi-purpose trail network," said Ms. McCullum.

The first annual general meeting of the Ontario Trails Council will be held April 22, in Toronto.

For further information on the Ontario Trails Council, contact Mavis McCullum, Cherry Street, RR3, Stouffville, Ontario, L0H 1L0.
