B's have no luck at Milverton tournament

Disappointing week for Peewees

The Georgetown Weldwood Major B Peewees had a busy but disappointing week, losing three league games and two tournament matches.

The team sandwiched a 6-1 loss to Oakville between home and away losses to Erin, 4-0 and 10-0, in league play. Jeremiah Fendley scored the lone Weldwood goal, deflecting a blueline backhand shot of Ryan Hay. Charlie Snook also earned an assist.

On the weekend, Weldwood travelled to Milverton for a tournament, and further disappointment. Their first game was against Richmond Hill. A win would have put them in the championship round; a loss would see them in the consolation round.

Richmond Hill got a couple of breaks in the first period, when two shots that would normally have been stopped, eluded the Weldwood goalie. The period ended at 2-0. Weldwood cut the score in half in the second period at 3:43. Jason Quinn and Shannon Morris played the body along the boards, creating a scoring opportunity for Fendley. His 25-foot wrist shot caught the top glove corner of the net. Unfortunately, the locals gave it back a couple of minutes later. Half-hearted checking in the neutral zone resulted in a one-on-one, and the Richmond Hill player made a nice shot, low into the corner, to restore the two-goal lead.

The locals closed the score to a single goal again, with only 2:09 left, when Michael Travers recovered a Matt Anderson shot behind the opposition net and stuffed it into the corner of the goal. Weldwood pulled their goalie for the extra attacker, but a long shot found the mark, and the final score stood at 4-2.

Weldwood then met a Belgrave team that was much smaller, man-for-man, than the locals. Unfortunately, Georgetown self-destructed, taking six penalties to the opponents' one, including one that extended into overtime.

The locals jumped into a 2-0 lead. Travers split the defence and potted a wrist shot from the slot for the first goal. Two minutes later, Travers won the faceoff in the Belgrave end. The puck went back to Derek Ruffolo, and his slapper found the mark. Belgrave countered a couple of minutes later, and the teams went into the third with the score at 2-1 for Georgetown.

Belgrave tied it on a powerplay. In the overtime, they took advantage of a powerplay to register several shots-on-goal. When the overtime ended, Belgrave had one more shot-on-goal than Georgetown, and consequently were awarded the win.

Next weekend, the regular season concludes with a pair of games against Burlington and Erin.

Ski team buries three in five downhill meets

Milton Heights Ski Team took three out of five contests in downhill action last weekend on Jan. 14-15.

In local mountain league competition Milton Heights knocked off Snow Valley at Glen Eden, 106-83, with Mark Hooper of Burlington and Meghan Powell, also of Burlington, finishing first in their respective boys and girls divisions.

Kevin Martin (Campbellville) was second overall and Kyle Martin (Campbellville) was fifth, in the boys competition, while Liza Rezek and Andrea Kaesermann, both of Mississauga, finished third and fifth, respectively, in the girls group.

At Alpine, the Milton Heights Red Team downed Osler Bluff 110-67 with Oakville's Holly Bamber leading the way with a first overall in the girls division.

Marianne Doyle (Oakville) was second and Kathleen Pigott (Waterdown) was fourth while in the boys section Norval's Marc Hoewing was third, Jeff Kunze of Milton took fourth and Burlington's Kevin Smith finished fifth.

Milton Heights Green Team defeated Mansfield Bronze at Horseshoe Valley 117-75 with Norval's Monique Hoewing and Oakville's Mike West both placing first overall.

Ryan Page (Oakville) was second and Jason Hobbs (Burlington) was third in boys action while Oakville's Heidi Heckman (3) and Milton's Cathy Bradley (6) rounded out the girls field.

The local Blue Team lost a 113-57 decision to Cedar Highlands at Glen Eden with Stacey O'Neill of Oakville leading the way with first overall in the girls category.

Stuart Green of Oakville (6), Marc Riddell of Burlington (7) and David Smith of Oakville (8) were the top boys for Milton Heights.

Glen Eden was also a tough site for the Milton Heights Blues as they were topped by Hamilton-Chedoke Gold, 120-57.

Stacey O'Neill (Oakville) had a second in the girls group with Stuart Green (5), Alan Gordon (7) and Mark Henderson (8), all of Oakville, placing in the boys grouping.

Bridge winners

Bob Jackson and Harry Arbic were the big winners in individual bridge play at the Georgetown Legion recently.

Jackson took first on Jan. 16 with George Farrow in second and Earl Ryder finishing third.

On Jan. 9, Arbic earned first spot with Norma Maynard and Elsie Whitham taking second and third, respectively.
