

Delacourt's specializes in exciting gifts

Exciting new microwave-safe designs are featured in the dinnerware selection at Delacourts of Milton.

Owner Vira Delacourt believes that "a thing of beauty is a joy forever," and has adopted this as the motto for her shop. In her ninth year of business, Mrs. Delacourt was trained to be a dinnerware buyer in London, England, 35 years ago. She and her husband have been residents of Milton for the past 30 years.

They have two children, a daughter, Susan, who is married, and a son, John, currently teaching English in Japan.

Delacourts of Milton features all popular brands of dinnerware, including crystal, flatware and figurines. The boutique also has many unique shower gift ideas.

Currently, Mrs. Delacourt sees a trend, in that many brides are starting to register their dinnerware selections. She believes that the attitude towards registering is that it is a tasteful way of conveying a bride's choice of gift.

Located at 227 Main St. in Milton, Delacourts employs a staff of three Bridal Registry Consultants.

Goliger's handles change

One thing that's certain about the travel business is that it's constantly changing and Goliger's Travel of Georgetown is keeping up with the changes.

The Goliger's agency at 235 Guelph St. is part of a national chain of travel agencies, and is managed by Suzanne Day.

The agency is owned by David and Thomas Boydell and employs four travel consultants, Cathy Anthony, Bonnie Roebuck, Hilary Sallay, and Dennis Vanwyck.

Goliger's has accurate information on all airlines and package tour operators and will shop around and make price comparisons to ensure their customers get the best deal possible on their travel plans.

Goliger's looks after every conceivable aspect of travel plans, including airlines, accommodations, car rentals, rail travel, cruise lines, travel insurance, and incentive travel.

They can also provide tour packages, individual vacations, and group travel plans.

Goliger's recognizes that travel can be one of the most powerful motivators, and when used as a management tool, incentive travel can motivate salespeople, dealers, distributors, employees, and even customers.

A program can be proven successful when the motivational appeal of travel is harnessed with a well-planned and executed incentive program.

Many successful companies have discovered the key to keeping a competitive edge lies in incentive programs to reduce absenteeism, motivate a sales force, and raise the level of employee morale.

Goliger's prides itself in being a business that provides service for all aspects of travel.

Whether short jaunts to visit friends or relatives in a nearby city, or an ultimate around-the-world cruise, Goliger's can help customers find the holiday to suit their taste, timetable, and budget.
