

'Black Machines' stall

By WENDI GOODHEW
Herald Special

Georgetown Novice McNally's "black machines" were in white for their Feb. 26 game against Burlington.

Knowing Burlington had lost only one game all year including tournament play, Coach Markham knew his machines would really have to rev up to keep it close. With mascot "George the Lion" on the bench the boys were running on high octane fuel.

Burlington took the passing lane first and held tough 'til "Red Baron" Robert McCloud scored once again past Burlington's attackers to fire one home and tie the score. Chris Hall stood 6 ft. tall in net when he dazzled the fans with unbelievable saves. Allan Bester beware: Chris is on your trail! Mike Krause and Jeff Quinn showed us the '89 models are here to stay when they made some tricky plays. Burlington scored again to take the lead. "Mad Dog" Madill showed when shoved around by Burlington it takes more than a minor fender bender to keep him down. He's one tough cookie. Trevor Rich, one of our super stock models, tried a number of times with nice shots on net but couldn't sneak one by. Burlington played tough and Georgetown held on even with three pitstops to the penalty box. Georgetown's Jeff Bahr set up some nice barriers on Burlington and stood for no nonsense around our goalie.

Jeff Telford and Joey Goodhew flattened Burlington's tires on a few breakaways and set them into tailspins on others. "Eager Beaver" Ryan Smith put it in high gear a few times and was robbed. Our mini speedster Robert Larose kept knocking on Burlington's back door but couldn't get one in. David Markham set up detours on a number of Burlington's players. With minutes left Markham pulled our goalie and put Judd Richardson on forward. With only three Burlington players on the ice Judd made some nice rushes but Burlington's goalie was also hot. It was a tough game and all boys played well. Beware Burlington, because Georgetown's on the war path and we'll be back with our mean black fighting machines. Co-pilots Larose and McCloud were right in to the game as was Joey Barber who rested up for our next game.

Thanks to Doc and Penny Richardson for the skating party they held Feb. 25 on their pond for the novice machines. The boys had a great time, the hot dogs and hot chocolate were good too.

Legion bowls to top spot

Local Legion bowlers were right on the mark at a bowl-off held in Oakville on Feb. 25.

The Georgetown team of Marion Carney, Jean Foster, Trudy Paul, Leanne Hall, Hazel Dumper and Anne Nicholson took top honors in Oakville while Acton notched third place. Trudy Paul won high single on the day with a 251 and Anne Nicholson took home a door prize. Port Credit finished second in the team competition.

Legion spokesperson Yvonne Graham reminds card players that cribbage will be held in Erin on Mar. 4 with registration at 10:30 a.m. and play set to begin at 11 a.m. Interested players should contact Anne Nicholson at 450-5226.

Tickets are still available for the Legion's St. Patrick's Day Dinner on Mar. 18.

Public swim

There will be public swimming at both the Acton and Georgetown Pools, Monday, Mar. 13 - 19 from 2-4 p.m.
