

Cancer Society set to blitz Acton

Cancer Society members are preparing to hit the streets of Acton April 3 for the first ever Cancer Society blitz night in Acton.

Organizer Cathy McGillivray said all canvassers will meet at the Trinity United Church on Mill Street at 5 p.m. the night of April 3 for a light meal and a film on volunteering entitled "You Make the Difference."

The canvassers will be hitting the streets at about 6 p.m.

"It is hoped that the majority of the canvassing will be completed that evening but it is quite possible that canvassers will be out at other times during the month of April," said Ms. McGillivray.

The canvassers' meal will be donated by the Trinity Activity Group, a group of United Church women whose mandate includes outreach in the community as well as within their own church.

Daffodils will bloom in Acton, April 13-15 courtesy of the Canadian Cancer Society and their support workers, the Theta Phi Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority. Sorority members will pre-sell blooms to businesses and industries and schools April 13 and 14. Daffodils will be sold on the street Saturday, April 15.

The unit has several completely new fundraising projects planned on top of the annual golf tournament set for June 12 and the daffodil brunch on April 16 at Jack Tanner's Restaurant.

The Acton Fall Fair will be the setting for a "jail and bail" fundraiser where town officials and celebrities will be jailed until they can raise enough bail to be released. Of course all the bail funds will go directly to the Canadian Cancer Society.

The unit also wants to unveil the new "Can Can Event" at the fair.

Invitations will be delivered in the fall to invite all Acton residents to a "No-Tea Tea" sponsored by the Acton Cancer Unit.

More information will be forthcoming in the mail.

Affiliation folding in June

The Physically Handicapped Citizens Affiliation in North Halton will fold in June.

Past President Pat Woode said the decision to fold was made following an unsuccessful appeal for more money to Halton Region on Wednesday.

The affiliation asked for $13,000 in operating costs from the Region in order to finish compiling a computerized data base. The affiliation was given a $10,000 start-up grant from the province last year but the project is only half finished and the group can't get any more funding until the computer data base project is complete, said Ms. Woode.

Camp counsellors needed

The Easter Seal Society will be interviewing prospective summer camp counsellors on Wednesday, April 12, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. at the Burnhamthorpe Community Centre, Mississauga.

The Society is looking for exceptional people, 16 years old and over, who are interested in working with physically disabled children this summer, at five facilities throughout Ontario.

But Halton approved only $3,000 for rent of office space in Milton.

The affiliation handles around 200 clients a year mainly in North Halton, said Ms. Woode.

The group provides information and advocacy services to physically handicapped people.

Debrae Greenwood, a spokesperson for the affiliation, told Halton councillors Wednesday the group would have to fold in June unless the $13,000 was approved.

The affiliation has applied for funding from local United Way organizations but no decision has yet been made on the request, said

Ms. Greenwood. The town of Milton gave the group $300 but the town of Halton Hills has never approved funding for the affiliation.

The affiliation is now looking for other organizations in North Halton who are interested in keeping the information the group has gathered so far, said Ms. Woode.

She doubts any other organization will be willing to take on the advocacy role the affiliation has assumed in the last few years.

If no other organization wants the information gathered over six years by the affiliation, it will be turned over to the provincial organization called Persons United for Self Help (PUSH) in Toronto, she said.
