1865 IN ACTON

The volunteers were mobilized in 1865 to defend our borders against the Fenian "invaders". The Acton Hotels were closed for a time in protest against the "no liquor" vote! In June, a village carpenter who seduced a young girl was murdered by her brother. In July, the home of Mr. P.H. Corrigan, merchant, was burglarized along with Malcolm Kennedy's milk house, Mr. Ebbage's parlour, and finally the farm of Alex McIntosh. Constable Soper arrested the thief.

Many thanks to Mark Rowe, President of the Historical Society, who wrote this article.
