

House league skaters receive GMHA awards

House league award winners for the 1988-89 season were announced at the GMHA's Day of Champions last Saturday at Alcott Arena.

Trophies were handed out to the most valuable player, most improved player, most sportsmanlike player and top goaltender in each league.

Jeff McNiven carried off the MVP hardware in the Midget-Juvenile league and his Standard Products team went on to win the division final with a 6-5 edging of Autohaus. Skyjack's Joel Dickinson was named the most improved player and Scott Dobbins of Autohaus took the sportsmanship award. Goaltender Craig Moore of Skyjack's walked away with the Vezina Trophy.

David Lawrence of Curwood took home the MVP award in the Bantam house league with teammates Carl Elgin and Carlo Parenti sharing the Vezina honors. Stephen Lacroix of Tim Horton's was named most improved player and the sportsmanship award went to Georgetown Honda's Paul Lalonde.

In the Pee wee section, Jim Whorley of Carpet Barn was tabbed MVP while a pair of Georgetown Firefighter teammates received the most improved and most sportsmanlike player honors. Grant Goodfellow took the most improved title and Mike MacInnes won most sportsmanlike kudos. Murray Motors' Joshua Barber was named top backstop and earned the Vezina Trophy.

Atom league MVP was Rockwell's Dave Doole with Stewart Houston of Dave's Service winning the most improved player award. Halton Hills Tire's Andy Jackman was named most sportsmanlike player and Varian puckstopper Trevor Cuthbert got the Vezina. Rockwell won the Atom title with a 5-3 win over Varian.

Novice award winners included Brendan Alexa of the Hockey Moms (MVP), Brad Densmore of the Lions Club (most improved), Ryan McMenemy of the Hockey Moms (most sportsmanlike) and Young's Pharmacy netminder Colin Buckton (Vezina).

On the Tyke side, Matthew Hotham of J.V. Clothing took top honors as league MVP while two Trio Mart teammates won both the most improved player award and most sportsmanlike trophy. Corey Forbes was cited as the most improved tyke and teammate Roddy Heinz was deemed the best sport.

Watch for further GMHA Day of Champions coverage in Saturday's Herald Outlook.
