HOME FEATURES MASTER SUITE

Additional brick veneer, multipaned windows and corative wood boards create a Tudor exterior for this 209 square foot home. The weather protected entry opens to a two storey foyer. The vaulted ceilings continue through the living room and master bedroom enhancing a spaciousness of this open plan design. The living room, with warming masonry fireplace and floor to ceiling windows, adjoins the dining room. The master bedroom on the main floor provides added privacy and avoids having to climb stairs to the second level. The master suite boasts a spacious walk-in closet, whirlpool spa with skylight above, twin vanity and shower. The informal area revolves around the kitchen/family room. The kitchen, with centre cooking island and roomy counters, flows to a sunny breakfast bay and family room. A powder room and laundry room, off the two car garage, complete the first level. The stairs the railed gallery views the foyer below. The two additional bedrooms, each with wall closets, share a full bathroom with two vanity areas and separate tub. The bonus room provides 210 additional square feet - ideal for game room, media centre or an additional bedroom. Ample storage facility off the gallery. Claire and Steve Emmerson celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the home of Marie and John Zions in Acton on Sunday. The pair were married in Georgetown 50 years ago. Mr. Emmerson, now retired, worked as a machinist and health and safety analyst at Abitibi paper mills. They were joined for the celebration by four great grandchildren, four grandchildren and daughter Marie Zions and son Kevin Emmerson. (Herald photo)

The Acton unit of the cancer society kicked off cancer month with a flag-raising ceremony at the town administration building on Trafalgar Road Friday. Left to right is David Colvin (president of Acton unit), daughter Meghan, Halton Hills Mayor Russ Miller and campaign chairperson Roselle Colbeck. In their first door-to-door blitz Monday, the Acton unit raised $2,600. Before the blitz, canvassers were treated to a chili dinner and doughnuts courtesy of the Trinity Activity group and Mr. Mugs.
