

Aldan Jenkins, 4, clowns around with some balloons on Georgetown's Main Street while Alex MacLeod, 4, looks on. (Herald photo)

Hometown tourists took in the sights

Pioneer Days and Classics Against Cancer were a hit in Georgetown again this year for children and adults alike. Face painting, clowns, balloons and plenty of food kept everyone happy Thursday to Saturday while the classic cars rolled into Cedarvale Park Sunday to clear weather and sunshine. The classic car show was viewed by about 7,000 spectators.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Herald photos by Michelle Rouillard

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

