Residents will have to plug their ears

Those concerned with late-night noise at a construction site on Hall Road will have to keep their ears plugged until June 23, Halton Hills council decided Monday.

Acton Coun. Gerald Rennie said there has been "an ongoing problem" with the site at Hall Road. But town administrator Dan Costea said the construction company's work on the site "is such that they have to continue at night to complete a single (concrete) pour a day."

"The problem remains a problem but it is coming to an end," said Mr. Costea, who estimated the late-night construction noise at the site should stop around June 23.

Chief building official Ron Shettell said other high-rises have similar noise problems "but there's no one around to hear it."

The noise from the cement pouring comes from machines used, said Mr. Shettell. "It's the whirring sound of the blades that we hear," he said.

By Glenda Hughes, Sales Rep. 873-0300

One can always count on one day of the year, that in most of this area real estate sales reps are not available (at least, not readily available). If you tried, with varying degrees of success to reach one of us on the 22nd, you probably discovered that our return phone calls were a shade on the lengthy side. Well, we do have to have a little fun you know, and as this is our annual golf tournament day, you now know the cause of our delays. This year we are golfing for a wonderful charity: "Halton Women's Place."

Much planning goes into our day to make it a success in every way, and I think that you as my readers, would like to know that we try to do some good deeds in this area, besides finding you new homes and selling others. This year, our golfers top out at about 130 people, comprising of lawyers, accountants, newspaper people, real-estate offices and assorted guests. We try to put lots of fun into our worthwhile cause, and I think you will see by the newspaper next week, that we do truly succeed in making this a blockbuster day for charity. The Halton Women's Place provides shelter and hope for abused women and children throughout the year, and they are a very busy place. It seems sad that they are full most of the time, but at least when women know that they need help, this shelter is there to lend a helping hand.

In our profession, we often must work with the aftermath of such incidents, as many homes go on the market due to problems at home. So, it seems very appropriate that we have picked this charity to be the recipient of our fundraising this year. So, be kind to your sales rep if things were a little slow last Thursday, and be thankful that so many people care to give of their time, organizational skills, patience, money and kindness, to help out this very worthwhile cause.

You know what - we really do care!
