Around the world with Halton W.I.

By DONNA MacPHERSON
Herald Special

The Halton District Women's Institute 88th District Annual held recently centred on the theme "Around the world with ACWW (Associated Country Women of the World). All 12 branches designed posters, displayed artifacts, and or products from member countries.

District president Norma Alexander told how the ACWW evolved over the years. The group currently has a membership of 9.5 million women. In co-action with UNESCO, ACWW is working on "Water For All" projects.

Scholarships funded by ACWW are available to young women from Third World Countries. These young women then return home with new skills, usually in health or education, to work.

In honor of the theme, ACWW had special Loaf of Bread Collection before lunch. About $108.45 was raised for the Jubilee Fund.

Several Halton Women's Institute members will be attending the ACWW Triennial Conference in Kansas City, Miss, this September and Ottawa will host a Mini ACWW Conference in June 1990.

Helga Schwartz and Hazel Stewart presented a workshop (Safe Food Handling). They remind everyone to wash the tap as well as your hands, utensils and knives when through working with raw meat. Harmful bacteria can multiply very rapidly, possibly causing severe illness, even death.

Cathy Anthony from Goliger's presented many sensible suggestions in her Travel Tips workshop. Some examples: keep a list of your travellers cheques numbers at home as well as with you. If you need to take prescription drugs have them authorized before you leave the country.

The Women's Institute theme from 1989 to 1997 will be the Environment.

All Women Institute members are asked to contact local school teachers to publicize a competition. This is to be an essay of not less than 250 words or more than 1,000 words. This competition is open to all Ontario Grade 7, 8 and 9 students. The topic is What Should Society Be Doing To Preserve The Environment.

Lt.-Gov. Lincoln Alexander will be present for the opening ceremonies Christmas at the Lee, Dec. 6, 1989, Eriand Lee Home, Stoney Creek, Ont.

If you know where we can find photographs of W.I. Halls era (1928-1935) showing a portrait of Adelaide Hoodless on the wall, please contact Jane Bayton (416) 854-2449.

The Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario have become members of the new Women's group Farm Women's Network.

Ballinafad tops the "B"

By BETTY SOJKA
Ballinafad Correspondent

The Ballinafad Ladies emerged victorious from the Glen Williams' Slow Pitch tournament held on the weekend, when they won the "B" division. Their first game on Friday night, saw them work hard together, only to lose 6-5. The game sped quickly with only 35 minutes in playing time. This loss put them in the "B" division. The Ladies returned on Saturday to win all three games played. Sandy Brownridge hit two fantastic over the fence homeruns in one game. In other games Maureen Halpenny and Sandy Brownridge hit inside the park homeruns. Other great hitters included Vivian Brenner, Vera and Lisa Longstreet, Sharon Marshall, Marion Lumbers and Sandy Prowse for doubles and triples. Carol See played a tight defence during all the games and made some extraordinary catches. Maureen Halpenny doing the majority of pitching and Sandra Prowse helping kept the team's bats going. Cindy McGowan playing first base was impressive with her catching and defensive play. The diamond for the "B" division was hard which made the ball bouncy, and defence tricky at times. The team's win made coach Jim Bailey a very happy man. The Ladies received a team trophy and individual prizes of Red Coors' sweat-shirts. The Ladies play again on Wednesday, July 12 at Prospect Park in Acton when they meet Random Car Club.

Other baseball news is that loads of screening have been dumped at the diamond. Spreading should take place in the next several days. With the addition of screening, the infield will have a smoother safer surface.

Watch for the Ballinafad Bright Yellow Pages to be distributed around July 14.
