

Man injured

Halton Hills Regional Police say a 23-year-old Georgetown man injured his ankle after it got caught between two electric jiggers at the Guelph Street Loblaws in Georgetown early Monday morning. Police report the man was using an electric jigger to unload some skids when he got his ankle caught. The ankle was probably broken, police report.

Wires cut

Power was lost at Black Box Control Limited on River Road in Georgetown when a man reportedly using a brick cutter, cut three hydro wires, last Thursday afternoon, police say. The complainant told police that when he went to investigate the blackout's source, he saw two males leaving the site where the wires were cut. The value of the damaged property was unavailable.

$300 stolen

Police say approximately $300 in cash was stolen from a Main Street apartment in Acton last Friday afternoon. Entry to the apartment was gained through the unlocked front door, police report.

Planters thrown

Police say someone threw a number of plastic flower planters into a swimming pool on Delrex Boulevard in Georgetown sometime early Saturday morning. Property damage to the planters is estimated to be $15.

Foiled by dog

Police suspect a dog prevented someone from robbing a Storey Drive home in Acton sometime Friday night. Someone reportedly used a rock to smash the house's rear kitchen window to gain entry. But police say nothing was stolen and they suspect the dog living in the house turned the intruder away.

Hungry man

Charges of failing to comply with a reconnaissance and fraudulently obtaining food were laid following an incident in a restaurant in Acton Friday afternoon, police say. A 20-year-old Acton man allegedly ordered a meal and then refused to pay the bill. The man appeared at a bail hearing Monday to receive a court date.

Man hurt

A 28-year-old Acton man was taken to Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital and treated for an ankle injury after a van fell on it at a Mill Street address in Acton Saturday afternoon. Police say the man had part of the van jacked up when it fell on to the man's ankle.

Impaired charges

Police have laid charges of impaired driving following an incident on Mountainview Road north of King Street in Georgetown Saturday night. Police say a 26-year-old Georgetown man was pulled over as a result of a highway traffic violation. An Aug. 21 court date has been scheduled.

Assault charges

Charges of assault were recently laid in connection with a confrontation occurring at a gas station in the area of Trafalgar Road and Steeles Avenue in Halton Hills during the early morning of July 4. Police say a car pulled into the gas station and the vehicle's passenger got out of the car and asked the attendant for directions. Police say the 32-year-old London man didn't like the directions and gave the attendant a "couple of shakes." The attendant is a 36-year-old Hornby man. The London man is scheduled to appear in court, Aug. 28.

Window smashed

Police say someone smashed the glass window of a gas bar's front door causing approximately $175 in damages in the area of Sideroad 10 in Halton Hills sometime between last Thursday evening and the next morning.
