Thompson, of RR4 Georgetown, Peel Dairy County Princess was one of five finalists. Also in the finals was Kelly Little, dairy princess of York, whose grand parents, Allan and Jean Harrop and family were former Norval area farmers. Both young ladies have the moral support of their many friends and family.

Also competing were dairy princesses of the counties of Renfrew, Prescott, and Lennox and Addington.

Judges for the dairy princess show were Phyllis MacMaster, Halton agricultural representative, Art Bennett, former assistant agricultural representative and Ross Farr.

Congratulations to Karen Swackhammer, RR2 Acton, who is Halton's Dairy Princess. Karen competed last Saturday evening at the CNE and made a good showing, but was not fortunate enough to be one of the two winners.

They said the food was scrumptious and bountiful, and the scenery was breathtaking all the way up with little coves and channels.

Yukon. Following a couple of days and nights here with tours etc., they bade a fond farewell to the mountains, lakes and rivers they had enjoyed so much, and flew back to Pearson International Airport.

25th anniversary

NORVAL-Ron and Joan McLean of Avonmore St., Brampton, were surprised on their return home from shopping with friends on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 26, to find their home full of relatives and friends all set for a party to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary with corsages waiting for them.

Forty-five guests overflowed the house to the patio and the children enjoyed the pool. Ron and Joan's two teenaged sons were in on the plans for the surprise party. David and Rob received the guests and assisted in the arrangements.

A delicious buffet supper was followed by the happy couple opening their gifts and cards with the highlight being the reading of poems composed by those attending the party.

Guests were present from Ingersoll, Bowmanville, Tweed, Cambridge, Norval, Mississauga and Brampton. Special good wishes were sent from New Liskeard, Tweed, Sault Ste. Marie, and Picton.

The surprise party was held a couple of weeks early before the teenagers and children went back to school so Ron and Joan were completely surprised.
