

Dominion Seed House has supplied quality products for 60 years

Dominion Seed House at the corner of Guelph Street and Maple Avenue in Georgetown, has supplied Canadian gardeners from coast to coast with quality garden products for over 60 years.

The owners of Dominion Seed House vow to maintain and improve the standards of excellence initiated by the business' founder, William Bradley.

There are seven people working at Dominion Seed House to make sure all your gardening needs are met. The staff include Bob Hankinson, manager, Cathy Bartolic, assistant manager, Jodi McNeill and Henry Dekker, sales clerks, Jamie Rutherford, visual presentation artist, and Kyla Jackson and Joanna Street are sales clerks.

The garden centre specializes in flower and vegetable seeds, gardening books, and top quality gardening tools. But Dominion Seed House also has bird feeders and bird feed, indoor light gardens and any other quality useful gardening products.

The motto of Dominion Seed House is "quality gardening products at fair prices."

Barragers helps make you look good

There are almost 30 people in at least five locations in North Halton working in Barragers Cleaners and Laundromat to help you dress your best.

Owners Mani and Vijay Mitera work especially hard to make sure that the whites stay white. Silk and silk-look clothes are automatically given special attention, the Miteras say.

And to better serve their customers in the west end of town, Barragers opened a new location in Moore Park Plaza last year.

The Miteras took over a plant in Milton in April, and other locations include the Delrex branch and one in Erin.

Barragers offers a complete line of dry cleaning services, including restoration of clothes.

Other services include wash and fold, uniform rental, invisible mending, wedding gown heirloom and shirt laundry.

Barragers' motto is "To us our customer is king and when they look good, we look good."

Barragers has several key people, who'll help you look good. There's Edna Holmes, the dry cleaner, who makes the clothes come out clean and takes care of stains; Giovanna Collangelo, who takes the cleaned garments and presses them to make them look like new; Maria Carrerio makes sure your slacks have the proper finish; Kathy Hannon takes care of your shirts; Margaret Smith and Vijay Mitera greet customers at the main location and look after various cleaning needs; Gaile Melville and her colleagues look after customers at the Delrex store; Denise Kitchen and her colleagues look after customers in Moore Park Plaza and Kitt Fick works at the Erin store.

The Miteras have two boys and a daughter. The sons, Vincent and Rahul are actively involved in the business.
