

CNE dairy queen faces a full-time job

TORONTO—As a contestant in the 1989-90 Ontario Dairy Princess Competition at the Canadian National Exhibition (CNE), Lynda Thompson is expected to know much about the dairy industry.
 However, her past year as the Peel Region dairy princess has shown sometimes you have to get down to the basics.
 Her visits to area grade schools are a good example. Lynda, 21, said some kids have lots to learn.

for more see Norval News page 12.

"These kids really don't know much about farming," she said. "They learn that milk comes from a cow. It doesn't come from a store."
 One other lesson older kids learn is farming is a business and isn't the simple life people used to imagine.

 In Peel Region, Lynda is in a unique area that mixes urban and rural life. Lynda, who lives near Georgetown, said her role as dairy princess is to try to bridge the gap between the two.
 She is a likeable ambassador for the dairy industry. She also has what it takes at dairy competitions, winning the Ontario dairy princess title.
 The annual event features 43 contestants who are judged on their knowledge of the dairy industry, as well as poise, personality and maturity.

Donna Beggs, the 1988-89 Ontario Dairy Princess, said the eventual winner will face a rigorous schedule that can be tough.
 "It is a hard job," she said. "It's a full-time job. It's a lot of hard work."
 The Ontario Dairy Princess must leave school or work for the year she spends promoting dairy products. She travels throughout Ontario and Ms. Beggs said she also visited England for two weeks as part of the job.

 What made it tough, though, was living according to the tight schedule set by others.
 "I was told where I had to go. When I was going to be there. I was told what I was going to have to do," she said. "I didn't have time to be me."
 "It's an enjoyable experience but it's a lot of work."

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO DESIGNATE

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Town of Halton Hills intends to designate "Goodlet's", located at 86 Main Street South (Georgetown) as a building of architectural and historic interest under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act.

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION
 "Goodlet's"
 Built by Dougal Reid in 1879, it was operated by his descendants as a hardware store until 1945, at which time it was purchased by James Goodlet whose descendants operate the store today. The building is one of the oldest structures on Main Street only predated by the McGibbon block.
 Architecturally, the building is unique to Georgetown. Its entire facade is limestone, with cut limestone, rock-faced quoins on each side. The windows on the second and third floors are 2 over 2 double hung with semi-elliptical heads. The metal window, heads and brackets and the metal entablature and brackets distinguish the Main Street face. The coursed rubble stone, south elevation, gives character to the alley linking Main Street South to the rear parking area.

Any person may, within thirty (30) days of the first publication of this notice, send by registered mail or deliver to the Clerk of the Town of Halton Hills, a notice of his or her objection to the proposed designation, together with the reasons for the objection and all relevant facts.
 If such notice is received, the Council for the Town of Halton Hills shall refer the matter to the Conservation Review Board for a hearing.
