

Over 16,000 people came to the fair

Five-year-old Jackie Ezeard gave it her best shot but she couldn't quite make it to the end of the track during the mini-tractor pull at the Georgetown Fall Fair on Sunday.

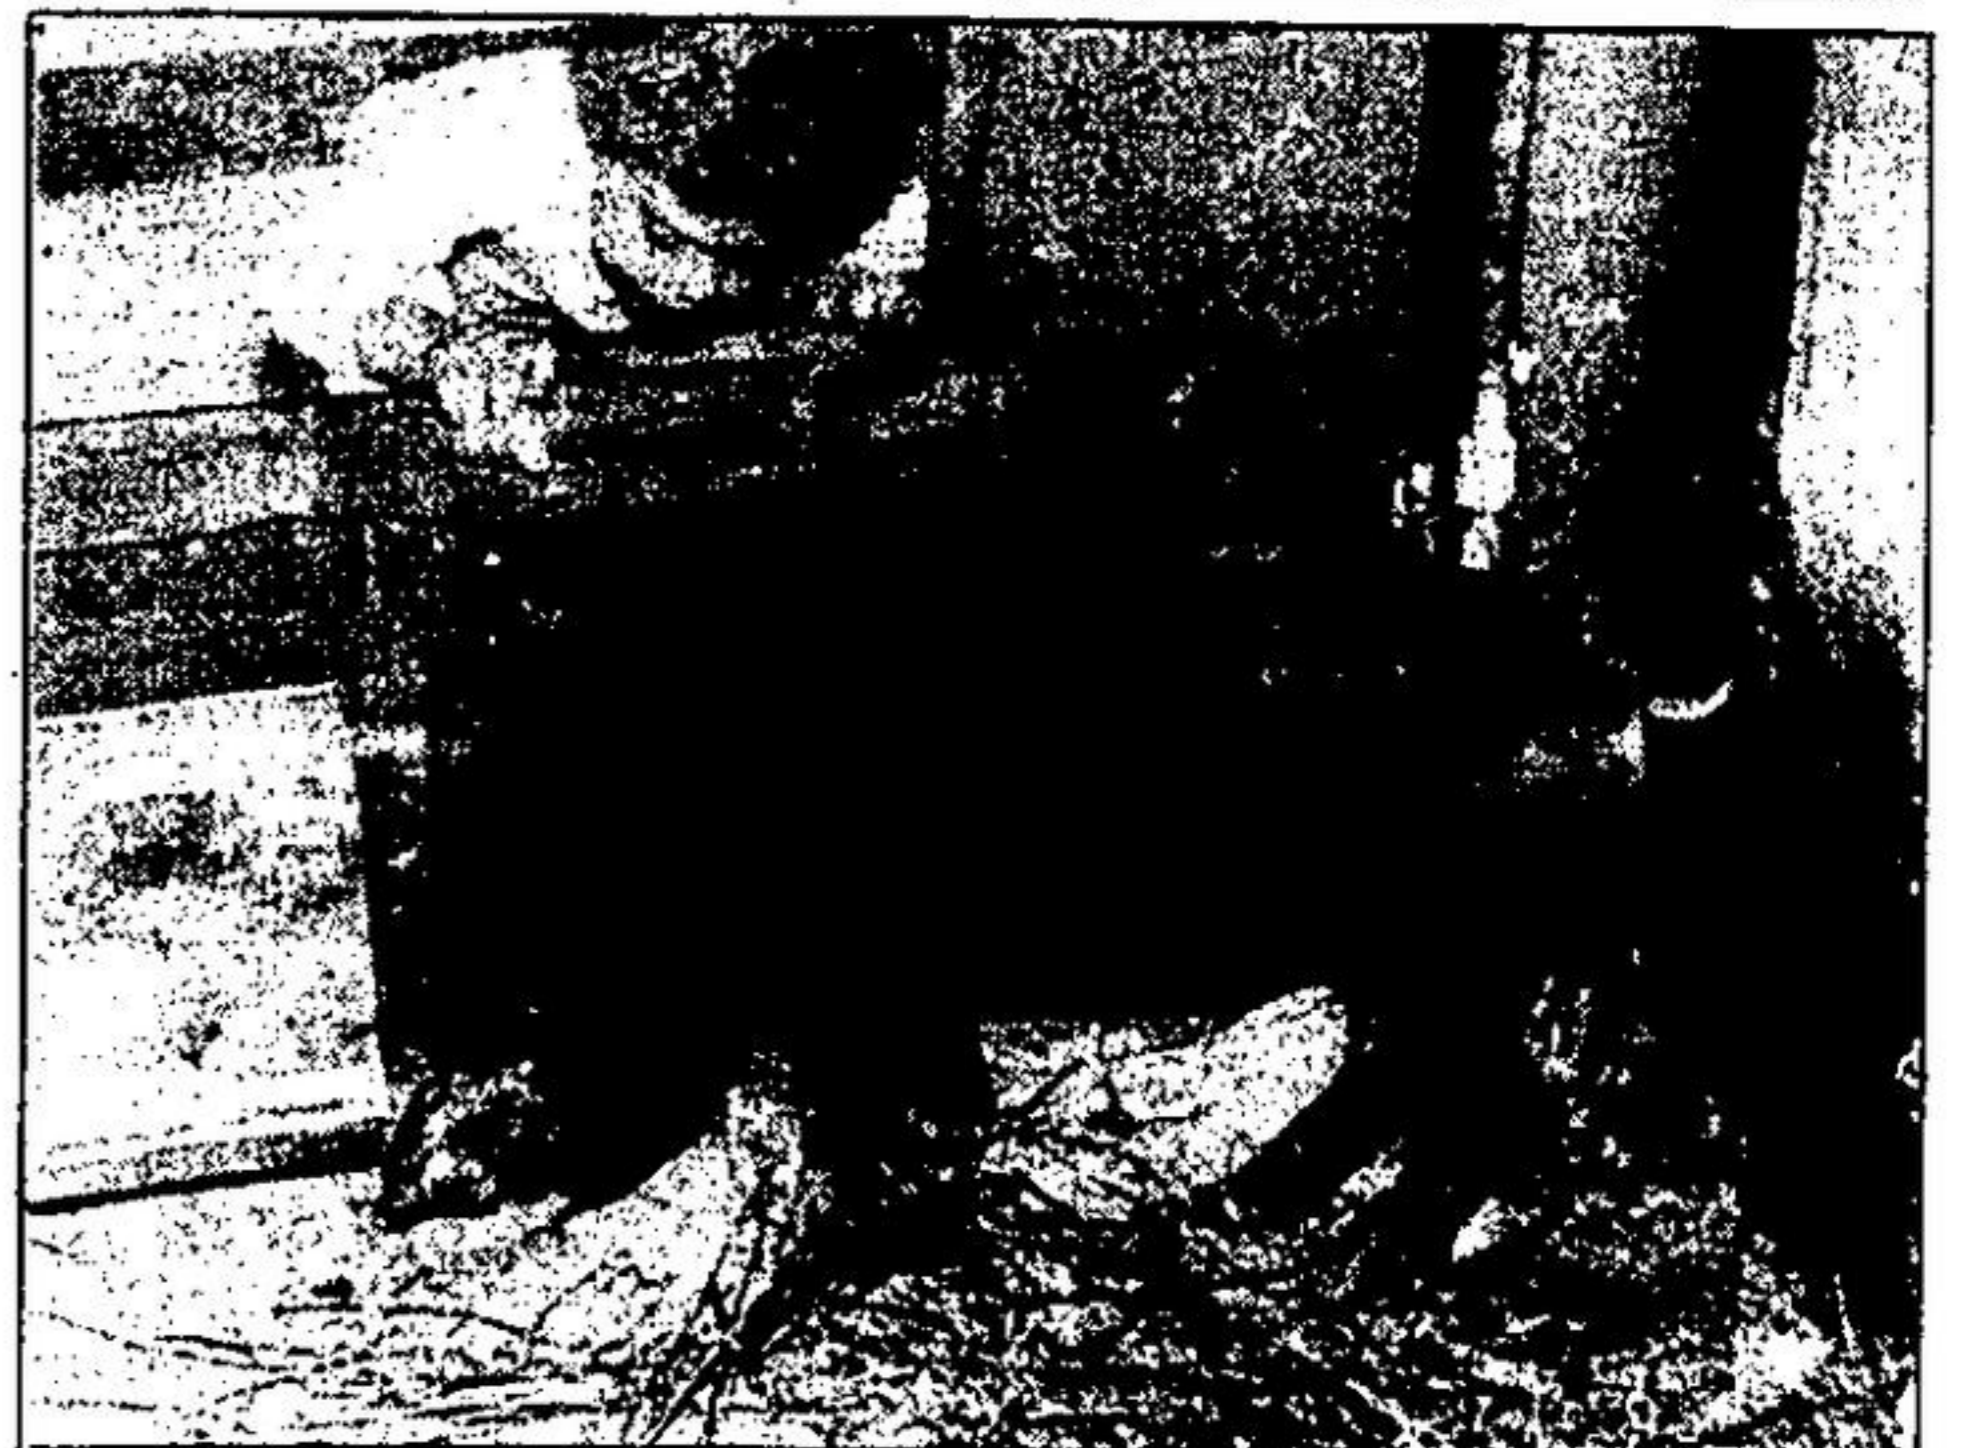

Steve McLean of Acton took first place in the Open Bike Roadsters competition on Sunday at the Georgetown Fall Fair. The various horse shows help the fair keep in touch with its agricultural roots.

The Lions Club won the Farm Olympics at the Fair but here, several town councillors tried a balancing act to cut the log. Sawing hard is Pam Johnston and Alf Spence. Mayor Russ Miller looks on from behind while Anne Currie attempts to stay on top of things. Al Cook offers encouragement from above.

You can't tell by this picture but Wilbur really is purple - well close anyway. And this youngster seems curious but he left in a hurry once Wilbur gave him a hungry look.

The former world champion trampoline artists "Air Fantasy" were a big hit at the fair. Their unique style entertained adults and children alike.

The Lincoln Leapers are the 1988 world champion Double Dutch winners and their two performances drew applause from the spectators on Sunday. The attendance on Sunday was better than Saturday's attendance.
