

Kinsmen girls

League finale

By DEE DEE HAYNES
Herald Special

Well, the entire Kinsmen league games are finally finished.

The executive would like to thank all of the coaches and umpires, who have volunteered their time to help the girls. Secondly, we would like to thank our sponsors who help defray the costs of running the league: Standard Products, the Kinettes, Youngs I.D.A., Elks Lodge, Dairy Queen, Delrex Smoke Shop, Kentner's Dairy Bar, and the Optimist Club.

Lastly, to the Kinsmen ladies, who came out to the Fall Fair and provided lunch for the girls.

INTERMEDIATE

Playoff action began early as Kentners and the Optimist teams met Thursday evening. The game went down to the bottom of the final inning, as Kentners won by a one run margin, 12-11.

Hitting in homeruns were Deanna Moore of the Optimists and Paula Walsh of Kentners. This game moved Kentners into the finals and the Optimists to a relaxing weekend.

In the semi-final game on "B" diamond, Elks Lodge overpowered Kentners, as they came up on top, 23-16.

Both teams played extremely well, with special note to Kentners' Krista Peacock who hit three homeruns and one triple for her four turns at bat.

Special mention also goes to Cindy Rouillard who hit her very first grand slam homerun to aid her teammates to the win.

In other semi-final action, Delrex Smoke Shop gave too little, too late as they hit in seven runs in the final inning to lose out 13-10 against Dairy Queen.

Smashing in homeruns were Jennifer Koster, and Amanda Tutt of Delrex and Jenny Grant and Wanda Brown of Dairy Queen. This moved Dairy Queen into the finals against Elks Lodge.

Fans who awaited the final game silently pondered if they had stepped into some sort of time-warp or if it were a deja-vu, as the two teams who had scrapped it out in 1988 finals were once again meeting in the 1989 finals.

Dairy Queen jumped out to a small lead, in the first two innings, but Elks Lodge led by pitcher Trisha Humeniski, came back with outstanding teamwork in the third and the momentum continued throughout the game.

Homerun hitters were Kim Wiltshire, Tracey Morey and Jenny Grant of Dairy Queen and Trisha Humeniski, Sheila Stiles and Jenny Lorito of Elks.

Excellent pitching came from Elks' Humeniski and Dairy Queen's Katherine Porritt who both pitched the entire game for their respective teams.

The game's final score was 20-15, for Elks Lodge. (This is the second year that Elks Lodge finished on top of the heap in playoff action.)

Before the trophy presentation, the playoff MVP trophy was awarded to Cindy Rouillard of Elks Lodge. Cindy shared the pitching duties of the first game, and she did very well at bat. The umpires
