Abortion issue shows society is becoming inhuman, reader says

Dear Sir,
 There was a misconception that Pro-Choice leaders were speaking for all Canadian women when the Supreme Court of Canada gave its ruling on abortion. Canadian women were supposed to have had their "Greatest Day in Canadian History." As a Canadian woman it was not my greatest day. I couldn't believe that we as a society are becoming so inhuman. How can we so easily disregard our own children, our future?

I understand all of the reasons for having an abortion and don't say this lightly. Yet I look at Third World countries and realize that these people want their children. If anything all they have are their children. We do not live in a Third World country, but we do live in a society that offers quick fixes and quick solutions. It is unfortunate that women are the main focus in abortion issues, because they are not the ones being aborted. Yet it is typical of our society to put the main focus on us. "What I want," "What I need," "How I feel."

We all know that we live in a selfish demanding, sexual, greedy society, but we still have love, compassion and hope for our children and our future. Do we as a country want our children to grow up believing that abortion is acceptable? What scary issue(s) will they and their children come to accept as a country?

As a mother of three I believe that most women who consent to abortions are more inconvenienced by having to carry a child for nine months, than concerned about the child itself. So many couples who want a family with children are in need.

All we seem to hear in "justification" of abortion are the cases of incest and rape. These cases are undoubtedly traumatic, but not the (greatest) percentage. In fact (they are) a very minute per cent. We can find reason to justify any of our actions, but that does not make them right, i.e. "What is right for you may not be right for me."

Does this statement justify your actions? I want (to) believe that we live in a caring, human society, and (that we) can put aside our own selfishness and work together. Killing the children is not the solution. Let us address the real problem (our social morals). We are making these children pay for something they had no control over. It doesn't make sense.

Reader "sick" of anti-abortion letters

Dear Sir,

I am sick and tired of seeing the constant stream of anti-abortion propaganda appearing in this and other local newspapers in the form of letters from members of the "pro-life" movement. When these people talk about murdered babies they are, in fact, referring to the destruction of a cluster of cells that have only the potential to become a baby. Every sperm cell produced by a man and every unfertilized egg in a woman has the potential to become a baby and in the future, scientists may extend this potential to other cells of the body.

If the "pro-lifers" feel that a fertilized egg is more important than the mental and physical health of a raped 14-year-old girl, then they are entitled to their belief. However, they have no right to inflict their brand of morality, through law, on those Canadian women who do not hold such an opinion.

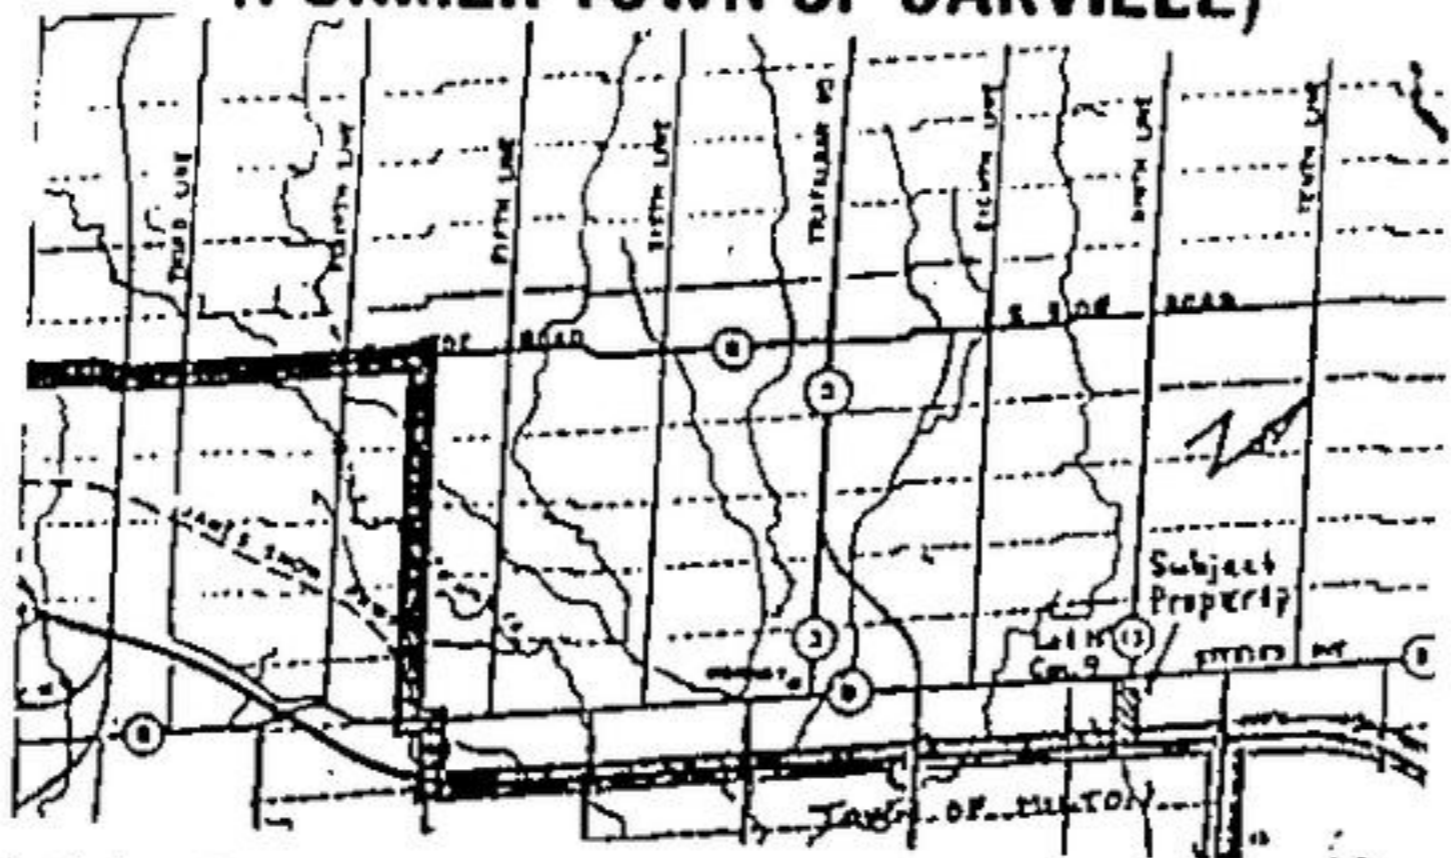

Human behavior is not changed by legislation. If this was possible we should not have drug addicts or prostitution. If the anti-abortionists really wanted to reduce the number of abortions they should be vociferous in their calls for more sex education of our teenagers, stiffer penalties for rapists, and the development of more infallible methods of birth control. However, on these practical methods of achieving their professed goal they are strangely silent.

Yours sincerely,
 Michele C. Heath

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING
WARD 4/GEORGETOWN SOUTH

General Committee for the Town of Halton Hills will conduct a PUBLIC MEETING to examine and discuss a proposal to rezone two blocks within an existing plan of subdivision from an open space zone to a residential zone to permit the development of these blocks for single family homes. The two blocks had been initially intended as part of a stormwater drainage management system. These blocks are now no longer necessary, as an alternative stormwater drainage system has been approved by the Town and therein these blocks may be considered for development purposes.

The blocks of lands are located in the Georgetown South area, and are part of two plans of subdivision recently registered. The blocks are both east and west of Mountainview Road and are described as part of Block 26 of Subdivision Plan 20M-510 and Blocks 164 and 166 of Subdivision Plan 20M-495. In addition to the foregoing the Public Hearing will involve an amendment to Zoning By-law 86-143 to correct a typographical error to a sideyard provision for single family dwellings in an R6 Zone category.
