Universities accredited as coaching institutes

Two Ontario universities are the first schools in the province to be accredited as National Coaching Institutes, Ontario Minister of Tourism and Recreation Ken Black said recently.

Lakehead University and the University of Western Ontario will now provide more educational and training opportunities for top level coaches in Ontario.

Mr. Black made the announcement at the Coaching Association of Canada awards dinner at the Airport Hilton Hotel. He also presented a $30,000 grant to seminar organizers.

"My Ministry has been working closely with Sport Canada and the Coaching Association of Canada to bring this program to Ontario," Mr. Black said. "So it is particularly fitting that during this year of the coach, we have achieved our goal."

Coaching Institute was recommended by the Sport Institute Report, which proposed that high-level coaching development in Ontario be integrated with universities to ensure credibility and degree-granting status.

The Ministry will give the two universities $36,000 the first year and $60,000 each subsequent year to administer the program. Funding will support six apprentice coaches per year between the two schools.

Ladies volleyball a colorful affair

By RO PALUMBO-COATES
Herald Special

The ladies were out in full force Monday night before Halloween in a diverse array of costumes.

Kelly Green won five games out of a possible six for the night but only made it to second place.

Black and Navy are tied for first winning four and three respectively. The Reds are in third and Grey is fourth overall.

Navy and Yellow are tied for fifth with 18 points after three weeks of play.

Powder Blue is in sixth place, Royal Blue is in seventh and the Orange team, who got dressed up (!) as a volleyball team - only won once that night, putting them dead last - even though they look like a fine team.

Mondays, 7:30 - 10 p.m. at the gym GDHS - we could use a spectator to stay up in the balcony and retrieve stray volleyballs!!
