

In Ballinafad Looking forward to the New Year

By BETTY SOJKA

Ballinafad Correspondent

At the Ballinafad Hall Board meeting held on Wednesday, Nov. 8 it was decided to cancel the Christmas dance in December. Previous years had low attendance due to competition from company Christmas parties. Planned still is the New Year's Eve dance, if enough volunteers come forward to lend a hand. If enough people would volunteer then it would only mean about half hour shifts for little jobs such as taking tickets at the door, selling beer and liquor tickets, putting the food out later in the evening, making coffee, and a light general clean up at the end of the night.

Your help would make the difference of either having the dance or not. Please contact Jean Buston at 877-2091, if you can spare a little time. Another item discussed at this meeting was that Wellington County has given verbal consent to put up the road way sign directing the way to the Community Centre, which was very kindly made by Gerry Andrews. Formal permission will come in the form of a letter.

With Christmas drawing nearer, there is nothing better than a craft sale to pick up something very different for that someone special. No gift is better appreciated than one that is hand made. Come to the Community Centre on Saturday, Nov. 19 from 12 noon to 4 p.m., and see the fine hand crafts of local artists. A bake table will be set up to earn money for the Community Centre. Contributions for this bake table would be greatly appreciated. Just bring your goodies to the Community Centre on Nov. 19, or call Nancy Berg at 873-2139 to make other arrangements.

Watch out for the November issue of the Ballinafad monthly newsletter, which was very kindly sponsored by Cindy Griffin and Cheri McNiven of William Ellis Real Estate Ltd.

What a busy time the United Church Women had feeding the large number of people who attended their Annual Turkey Supper. People filled the Ballinafad United Church on Saturday, Nov. 4 for a choice of three sittings. Not a soul went away hungry with the UCW's usual ample portions. The ladies are to be commended for all their hard work in preparing such a wonderful meal for such a large number.

Tickets for the '50s and '60s dance on Saturday, Nov. 25 are now available to be purchased at the Ballinafad General Store. Admission to the dance will cost $6 per person. D.J. George and Shane will have the party rocking to those oldies but goodies. The menu is potluck so bring your favorite dish, or use that new recipe that you have been meaning to try. The proceeds of the dance will go towards the Jim Bailey baseball diamond. The Ballinafad Ladies are putting on the dance.

The Nov. 1 Women's Institute meeting, which was held at Mrs. Betty Loperdraad's, had a large turnout of 11. The ladies answered to the roll call of "How can we help the less fortunate?" Mrs. Alma Sinclair gave the motto of "Indifference is the rust that crumbles our society." Mrs. Delores Smith as guest speaker gave a most interesting talk on immigration issues. The ladies learned how the immigrants of today are very different from the laborers that immigrated to Canada in the '50s and '60s. Immigrants of today are educated, have money to invest, and are very likely to be business people. These immigrants are congregating in Canada's major cities. Toronto for example has a ratio of only one of six people being Canadian born. The Women's Institute meet next on Wednesday, Dec. 6.

Legion Auxiliary

Donations needed for bazaar

By FLO CARSWELL

Legion Auxiliary

The date of our bazaar is getting close and the convener, Trudy Paul, has asked that you be advised that donations will be received in the board room on Thursday, Nov. 23 from 7 to 8:30 in the evening and Friday, Nov. 24 from 7 to 8:30 in the evening.

District crib in Burlington on Nov. 18 will have three teams qualified - Team A, B and C.

The Ladies Auxiliary was well represented in both Georgetown and Glen Williams parades on Saturday. The weather was not too bad but the wind made some of us shiver and shake as it cut through the coats and uniforms. The Remembrance dinner and the service at the cenotaph, events of great importance and members should take part in any way they possibly can.

Don't forget the general meeting on Thursday, Nov. 16.

Monica Southon had an overnight stay in hospital and is now under doctor's care at home. Flo A alters still remains in hospital.

Our condolences to Zoe Greenspan and family on the recent death of Zoe's mother.

Acton seniors seek funds for new centre

The Acton Seniors Centre Committee will launch another fundraising drive on Saturday, Nov. 18. Two authentic reproductions of a French Bebe porcelain doll valued at $1,500 each will be prizes in the Seniors' most ambitious lottery to date for the construction and maintenance of a Seniors Centre for Acton.

The dolls are being hand-crafted by the Kaolin Creations Doll Club associated with The Doll Emporium. Tickets will go on sale locally through the Doll Emporium on Nov. 18 for $2 each and will be sold also at doll shows throughout Ontario in the New Year. The draw date is May 12.

The Seniors Centre Committee and all Acton Seniors appreciate the initiative and devotion of the ladies of the doll club and the sponsorship of the Doll Emporium. The lottery could raise as much as $15,000 for the Seniors Centre. Previous fundraising activities have accumulated $2,800 for the fund.

The Seniors of Acton appreciate the support given their earlier ventures and look for continued support from the people of Acton. The dolls will be on view at the Doll Emporium.
