

Acton greets Santa with a parade

Christmas is also solemn time. These two youngsters seem to feel the spirit of peace as they rest on hay stacks on the float parading through Acton Saturday. Brisk temperatures and falling snow made Christmas seem just around the corner.

Even in French, it means Christmas. This boy was bundled up for a chilly Saturday as he sat atop one of the floats parading through Acton. Parade watchers were given a hint of Christmas with falling snow and falling temperatures.

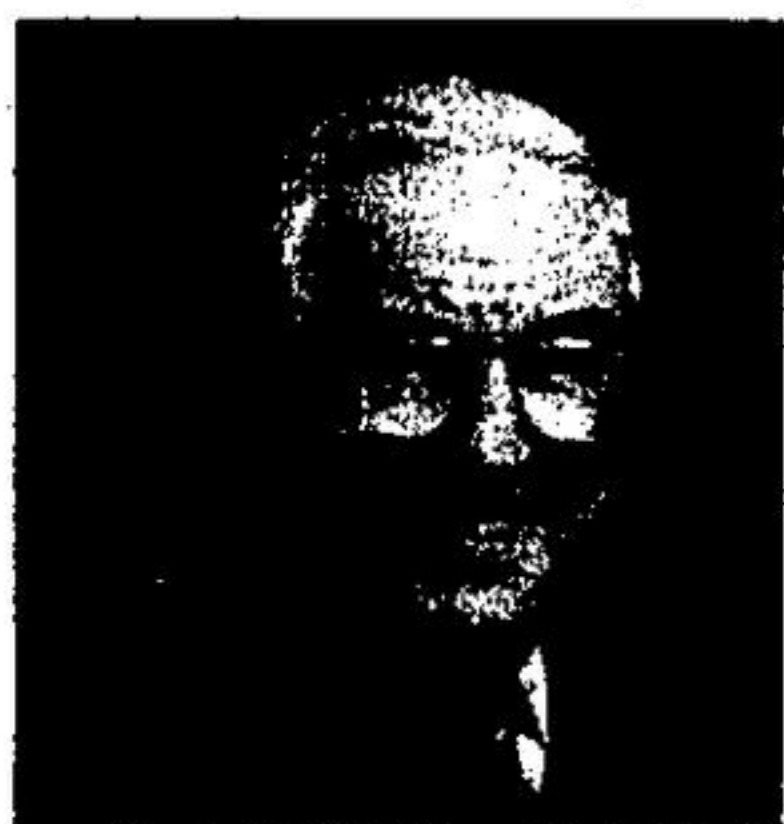

The Acton volunteer firefighters and their friends amused everyone on the sidelines at Saturday's Santa Claus Parade across Queen and Mill Streets. The frothy fellow on the left handed out candy to parade watchers.

Hey, weren't you at the Metro Zoo a few years ago? All the way from China, straight to Acton, this friendly Panda bear looked cuddly atop Christmas gifts piled high on this float.
