

Player movement to be settled

As I write, local and popular player, Dennis Thorogood is in hospital following a heart situation and we would like to wish him a speedy recovery. Good wishes to Dennis and family at this time.

MONDAY HALTON LEAGUE

The recent situation over the player movement is not yet settled, I understand. The final decision on the points involved is to be dealt with at a teams captains meeting. In the meantime play carries on as usual.

All the wins came in double figures last Monday. O'Tooles II and Copper Kettle II both scored 11, McGibbon I and Station House both scored 10 and Time Out I scored 13.

High finishes came from Ged Williams, 120; Rick Harden, 104; Roger Newman, 101; and Tony Marrows, 100. Highest score came from the darts and arm of Jim Frank, 157 with Hugh Smid punching three 140s and Scott Reis and Ron Scarlett two 140s each.

Several players scored single 140 and seven players made the magical 130 plus marker.

Time Out II gained three singles points from O'Tooles II and that was that. Quietly O'Tooles have moved into third place with stirring results over the past few weeks. McGibbon II also took three points, two singles and a doubles, from Copper Kettle II. Kettle move up one spot to eighth.

O'Tooles I, with player problems at the moment, took four points from McGibbon I, the second place team. Two singles and two doubles wins were the winning games for the visitors. McGibbon lads are only six points adrift from the top.

Four points also for Kaspers, at Station House. Kaspers took the last three singles and the last double. House move up one place to sixth. Finally, Copper Kettle I made only one point, and that in the last singles game against.....

Time Out I remain ahead at the top of the standings. This year, however, the lead is much less than last year at the same stage of the season.

There is no doubt that the clash between the two leaders very shortly will be crucial in the run in for the remainder of the season.

The league is hosting an open mixed doubles tourney this coming Saturday, at the Georgetown Armories, registration at 10 a.m.

ters picked up one point in the race with 7-0 and 4-3 wins. A win and a loss for third place Westenders keeps them in third. Exports slip into fourth with a win and loss.

Must say that Cutters are a revelation in the first division putting in a full challenge for the division lead. Bottom teams - Golden Flights and Acadian Pools - also won one game each and it is good to see them get some wins.

In the second division, double, double headers for Outlaws, Firemen and Taxmen have changed the division standings, if I am correct in my assumption that this past week was the catch up week in matches. The Rebels team have missed a couple of weeks and may be out of the league and more changes may be required in the tables.

As it is, for the moment, Firemen move into first place over Independents and slumping Panthers. Aces are fourth and Power of Pain drop a couple of spots.

Strong individual performances came from Jim Watson (156), Hunter Carroll, Mark See, Paul Kirby, Ron Scarlett, Al Murphy and Marty Glaude (140). Brad Hale began with a high 136. Ron Scarlett with 108, Hugh Smid and Mark See also 108 and Ray Ackroyd with 101.

Kevin Engineer, Barry Sproule, Jim Franks, Rod Beaumont, Luke Heikamp, Bill Hall, Jim Russell, Peter Buckley, Ian McDonald, Gerry Wallace, Terry Hancock, Erwin See, Tim Fields and Paul Karolidis each popped in a high score or two.

Free skating provided

The Optimist Club of Georgetown and the Rotary Club of Acton are providing free skating opportunities for youngsters and their parents during school Professional Development days. Last Friday (in picture above) the ice surface was jammed at Georgetown Memorial Arena as parents and youngsters took the opportunity to don the blades. The two service clubs will also be providing free skating opportunities at the Acton Community Centre, Georgetown Memorial Arena and Gordon Alcott Memorial Arena over the Christmas holidays. Free skating schedules are posted in the arenas and are available from the Halton Hills Recreation and Parks Department.
