Are Kim D. and Dana D. related?

ASK DICK KLEINER

DICK KLEINER

Q. My wife and I have been curious about this for some time now — are Kim Delaney of "Tour of Duty" and Dana Delany of "China Beach" related? — T.L., Hobe Sound, Fla.

A. That is, I believe, my most popular question of the '90s. And here is my popular answer: No, they're not.

Q. Would you find out the name of a movie with Katharine Hepburn, when she was in her 20s, set in China. And is it available on video? — J.P., Salem, Ore.

A. You are probably recalling "Dragon Seed," which was made in '41, when Kate was 37. It is available on a cassette (MGM 306653).

Q. About five years ago, I saw a TV movie titled "Harry's War." The male lead had a collection of WWII surplus armament, and he was bussed by an IRS agent, played by the man who played Major Winchester on "M*A*S*H." I can't find it in video stores and wonder if it might have been issued with another title? — R.C.M., Columbus, N.J.

A. That film — written and directed by Keith Merrill and starring Edward Herrmann, Geraldine Page and David Ogden Stiers — is supposedly available on videocassette. But I cannot find it in any of my catalogs. That was the only title under which it was released.

Q. I am trying to recall the name of the black singer who made a big hit in Paris years ago. And is she still alive? — B.F., Hollywood, Fla.

A. That was Josephine Baker, who died in 1975.

Q. Could you please tell me something about Harold Ramis of "Ghostbusters"? — M.F., Pine Bluff, Ark.

A. Harold Ramis was born in Chicago and went to Washington University in St. Louis. He began as a writer — his first job was jokes editor for Playboy magazine. Then he began writing for the screen: "Meatballs" and "Stripes." Only recently has he begun acting. He has been married for more than 20 years to a woman named Annie.

Q. Who was the male lead in the TV movie "Amos," with Elizabeth Montgomery? — B.C., Grand Rapids, Mich.

A. That venerable gentleman was Kirk Douglas.
