The Livno Meat and Delicatessen, located in Hornby just off Steeles Ave., opened its doors to the public Saturday and according to owner Nick Milardovic, "The response from the public was tremendous." Livno's is a family-run business and pictured above, father Nick is flanked by son Steve and daughter Anita in the meat smoking and curing area. The store's name is taken from Nick's home town of Livno, Croatia as is the procedure for smoking and curing the meat. As in Croatia, pointed out Nick, the smoking and curing is done naturally on the premises. No additives are used on the meat. Nick has been in the business for nine years, operates a store in Mississauga and operated a store in Norval for five years. (Herald photo by Colin Gibson)

Over 8,000 people expected in BIG show in June

By BEN DUMMETT the Herald

the inimitable words of showman Ed Sullivan, this year's Halton Hills B.I.G. Show is going to be a "Really Big Shew."

Over 8,000 people are expected to visit about 150 booths set up inside and outside the Gordon Alcott Arena in Georgetown by local businesses June 1, 2 and 3, says the trade show's chairman Doug Penrice.

But the attractions don't stop there. There will be continuous entertainment, fashion shows, the Big Chill Dance, double decker bus tours, and the BIGgest ice cream sundae bar. The bar, which amounts to an ice cream lover's version of heaven, will be a table the length of the arena covered with different ice cream flavors.

"It's a junk food dream," says the general manager of the Halton Hills Chamber of Commerce, Mary Anne Chapman. The chamber sponsors the event.

Money raised from the show will go to social functions and educational programs sponsored by the chamber, she said.

The show will cost approximately $30,000 to put on.

There will be a great emphasis on children's activities at this year's event compared to the 1988 show, Mr. Penrice says.

Parents will be able to drop off their children at a supervised play area, that will include the "world's largest sand box," jugglers, face painting and other activities while they visit the booths, he said.

"It (the show) will be a family affair."

The Georgetown Chamber of Commerce organized the first two B.I.G. Shows in 1984 and 1988. The anachorism stood for year the Georgetown and Acton Chambers of Commerce merged to form the Halton Hills Chamber of Commerce. BIG now stands for the show's sheer enormity, said Mr. Penrice.

The event allows Halton Hills residents and others to see the services and products offered by area businesses without being "pestered" into buying something. "It's an information show and not a selling show," he said.

It also allows people new to Halton Hills to see what's available, says Mr. Penrice, pointing out that the town has a transient population.

Although there was four years between the first two B.I.G. shows two years will now be the norm. said Mr. Penrice.

Most of the booths will be set up in the arena but the larger ones the car, boat and trailer dealership displays - will be outside in a roped off area of the arena parking lot.

Businesses can still retain a spot for a booth but they should hurry, said Mr. Penrice. All of the spots should be taken by the end of April.

The booths cost $240 which is $15 more than they cost in 1988. The increase cost represents inflation and other uncontrolable expenses, said Ms. Chapman.

The admission fee for the public will be $1. "We want people to come out; we're not trying to gouge them."
