Bennett on sidelines

Georgetown's Adam Bennett will be watching the balance of the Ontario Hockey League playoffs from the sidelines, while another Georgetown, Trent Cull, will follow his teammates to further glory after Owen Sound Platers edged Sudbury Wolves 4-3 in the deciding game of an opening round best-of-seven OHL Emms Division playoff series, Wednesday evening.

Racquet club championships

The Georgetown Racquet Club, located on Armstrong Ave., has scheduled its club championships for this coming week, April 3-7.

Competition is scheduled for both men and women in Classes A, B, C, and D. In addition, there is a Masters and Open division championship.

The club championships start Tuesday, 6:30 p.m., with Men's "D" division semifinals; Ladies "B" division semifinals and Open semifinals.

This year's club championship week offers an added attraction with the scheduling of an exhibition match between Sabir Butt, presently ranked Number One in Canada, and Steve Eastwood, a former member of the Georgetown Racquet Club.

The exhibition match takes place this coming Friday, 8:15 p.m. at the Georgetown Racquet Club. General admission is $5, while student admission has been set at $2.

On The TAX SCENE

Q. Last year, I earned approximately $60,000 and my wife's only income was from the family allowance payments. It is my understanding that because I earned over $50,000, I will have to repay all or a portion of the family allowances I report on my tax return. However, because my wife had no income, could she report the family allowance on her return in order to avoid repaying any of the allowance?

A. No. Because you are the higher-income spouse, you must report the family allowance payments on your return. Therefore, you are subject to the repayment rules. You are still entitled, however, to claim the credit for dependent children.
