Herald Special

Last week was a very exciting time at the Georgetown Racquet Club.

The semi-finals and finals of the club championships were held with the winners decided on Saturday.

In the Men's D division Bob Allison defeated Darren Hill in a well-played close match (3-2).

In the Men's C category Andrew Hoddinott got the better of John Platz.

In Ladies' C and D, the round-robin format that is being used is still in progress.

In Ladies' B division, teenage Kristy Lewis won against a hard working Barb Johnson.

In Men's B play Dave Cok out-muscled John Moore in a tough well contested match (3-2).

In Ladies A, the nationally ranked Junior Melanie Jans won over Christine Kogon.

In Men's A, another youngster, Keith Smith had his hands full in defeating Ken Torn (3-2) in a very entertaining match.

In the Open division Wayne Pakkala won against Terry Madill by a 3-2 score.

In the Men's Masters division Roger Newman was the winner over Jim Morwick.

A highlight of the club championship week was the Friday night exhibition match between Sabir Butt, the number one ranked professional squash player in Canada, against Stephen Eastwood, a former Georgetown student who is also a professional squash player.

A capacity crowd of about 100 were treated to an exciting display of athletic skill that left them amazed that what they were watching.

Sabir Butt is a personable 20-year-old who as a Junior, won every age group.

He was the National Champion in 1988 and on the International Tour he has won the Columbian Open in 1988-89, the Paraguian

Open 1988-89; the Peru Open in 1988-89 and the Brazilian Open in 1989. He is currently ranked 30th in the world.

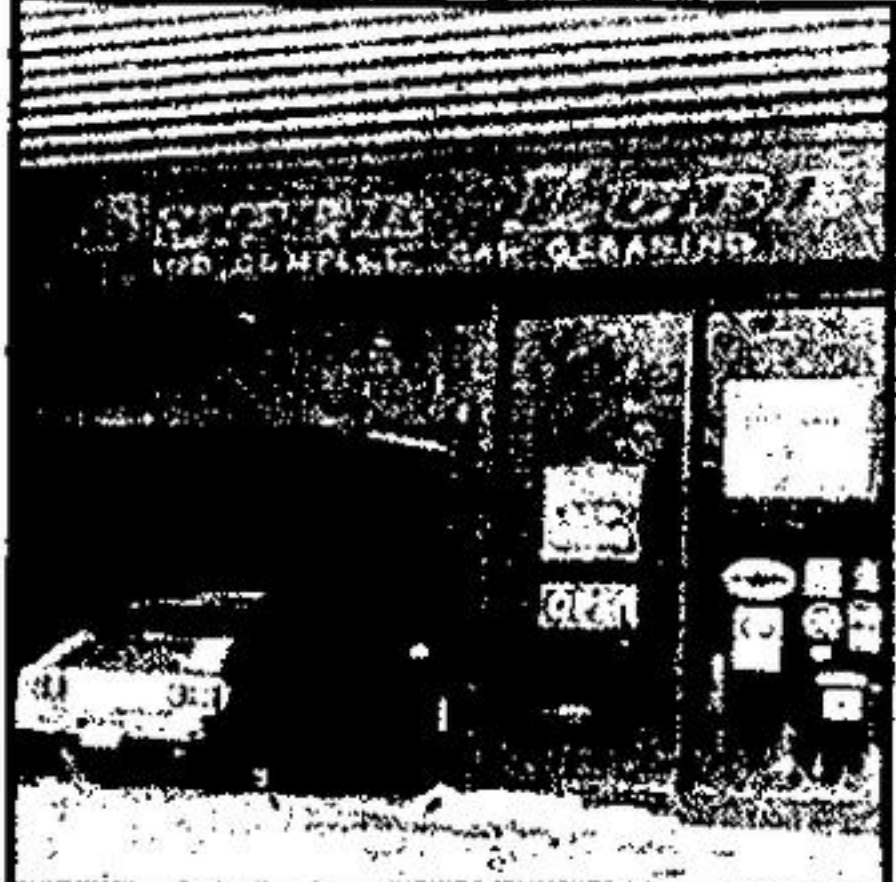

Stephen Eastwood who started playing squash at the Georgetown Racquet Club, has taken this past year to devote to squash.

He has just returned home from a six month tour of England where he won the Haddersfield Open, and was quarter-finalist of the British Amateur Championships.

He has also won the Ontario Winter Games under-23 championship.

Stephen showed the audience a maturity of play and a warm smile that was very well received.

This years final weekend attracted over 160 people to the club. Many were former members who returned to renew old friendships and remember matches won and lost.
